

HOUSE DEFEATS REPEAL MEASURE

"Lame Duck" Session Of Congress Opened At Noon

SENATE ENDS MEETING IN 19 MINUTES

Upper House Adjourns Out of Respect to Memory of Deceased Senators

HOUSE STARTS WORK

Today's Meeting Marks Beginning of End of Republican Post War Era

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Congress met today to begin consideration of problems which challenge the very stability of the government.

Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner at noon gavelled the "lame duck" session to order. The senate adjourned at 12:19 p. m. out of respect to deceased members.

Majority Leader Watson moved the adjournment but forgot to mention that it was in respect to the late Senator Jones, Repn. of Washington, and Senator Waterman, Repn. Colo.

Senators were moving down the aisles when Senator Dill, Dem., Wash., jumped up, obtained recognition and amended Watson's proposal to include the purpose of the early adjournment.

Three thousand "hunger marchers" two miles away were organizing for demonstration which some feared might lead to civil disorders.

Today's meeting is the beginning of the end of the Republican post-war era. Democrats take the White House, the congress and unprotected jobs after March 4. There was tragedy of a kind today in the faces of many veteran legislators bowed over by the Democratic landslide. Their power is waning. For many it is going forever and they knew that as they met today.

The house stole the congressional show today. The promise of a vote on prohibition repeal packed the house side of the capitol. The senate press gallery was almost deserted while newspapermen were jammed in the house.

Ten minutes before the house met, the floor was crowded with members earnestly conferring in scattered little groups.

There was a marked absence of the handshaking and backslapping usual to the first day of a new session of congress.

On the Democratic side of the chamber, majority leaders Henry Ratney, white haired veteran of many congressional battles held earnest conversation with his lieutenants.

Obviously the shadow of the impending repeal vote was having its influence.

The galleries, attracted by the opening day and the important decision, were crowded long before the session was due to start. As Speaker John N. Garner entered the rostrum, he was greeted by a full minute of applause. Republicans joined with Democrats

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 5. (To the Editor of The Register.) Everybody is knocking this lame duck congress but do you know those fellows have a chance to make a real name for themselves. And make us ashamed that we fired 'em. They know exactly how the people voted on every question that they will be asked to decide on. They know the majority didn't want prohibition, they know the majority don't want the debt canceled. They know every body wants government expenses cut in half. So when any question comes up all they have to do is read the election returns. Course, if they want to still be on the minority side of all these things we will know exactly why they were defeated.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

TROOPS READY FOR INFUX OF HUNGRY HORDE

Capitol Guarded as Hunger Marchers Tumble Out of Bunks Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Cold and road-weary hosts of the "hunger marchers" tumbled out of their trucks today determined to try to overcome by legal writ or force the cordons of police who barred them from their goal—the halls of congress.

Everywhere around them they felt the pressure of the forces of law and order. Lines of heavily-armed policemen, reinforced by 400 firemen sworn in as special officers, confined them in a roped off section of boulevard on the edge of the city.

At nearby army posts, 4000 troops stood by for a double time mobilization in event District of Columbia officials are unable to put down any disorders.

Attorneys representing the marchers planned to seek an injunction in District of Columbia supreme court today against the district commissioners and police. They argue that the heavy guard deprives the marchers of their constitutional privilege of petitioning congress. The attorneys were retained after a group of Liberal writers headed by Mary Heaton Vorse, Malcolm Cowley, Michael Gold and John Herrmann arrived to aid the marchers.

Leaders of the march insisted they would try to lead their cohorts to Capitol Hill tomorrow regardless of the outcome of the legal proceedings. Dawn found 3000 persons encamped in trucks and automobiles in the roped off street. Food was plentiful, but sleeping facilities were inadequate. The marchers spent a dreary, rain-spashed night. In the distance they could see the goal of their invasion—the capitol dome bathed in white light.

Police, gas guns strapped to their legs, stood sentinel around them. Up and down the straggling line of trucks moved federal agents, scanning the faces of the marchers in an attempt to locate aliens whom they wished to deport.

LITTLE CONGRESS TO MEET TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Senators and congressmen are not the only ones who are girding up their loins today for a winter of strenuous debate.

Their clerks and secretaries, who sit inconspicuously on the sidelines during the daily session, will come into their own tomorrow night when the "little congress" convenes.

The "little congress," which calls it a "debating society" and proudly declares its oratory is "free from vote-getting motives," offers the clerical staffs of the national legislators a chance to assert views which otherwise might find light only in the speeches they often write for their employers.

TAMMANY LEADERS BOW TO ECONOMY

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Tammany hall surrendered today to forces demanding economy in the city government just as an organized campaign to "draft Alfred E. Smith for reorganization mayor in 1933" got under way.

Smith announced he "would not comment for the present" on the draft movement, but it appeared that even if he should formally decline to run a committee will urge that his name be written in on the ballot.

The force of a well organized "write in" movement is indicated by the navy vote given Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee in the recent mayoralty election.

GREAT BRITAIN DOES NOT PLAN PUNITIVE MOVE

Stanley Baldwin Explains to Andrew Mellon Plan is Protectionary

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Acting Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was understood today to have told Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon that Great Britain does not plan a "punitive" tariff policy against American products if postponement of the December war debt payment is refused.

Mellon's visit to Baldwin on Saturday was understood to have followed a request from Washington for clarification of the reference to tariffs in the British debt note. The ambassador was understood to have outlined the gist of President Hoover's message to congress and the general attitude of the American administration on the British note.

It was reported that Baldwin said that any fiscal action by Britain would be purely protectionary the result of making the December payment of $95,550,000. British Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay was expected to clarify the point to officials of the state department.

The American reply to the British request for postponement was expected to arrive here Thursday or Friday and to be brief. The British government, it was understood, proposed to proceed with a request for a general reconsideration of war debts regardless of whether the United States insisted on the December payment.

Meanwhile the London chamber of commerce pushed its scheme to solve the problem of exchange restrictions by creating "barte" an artificial unit of value. The new unit, based on gold, would be a modern symbol of simple bartering.

The chamber of commerce plans to ask the government to introduce the "barte" idea within the next few weeks.

The "barte" system involves establishment of clearing houses in various countries to handle book-keeping. The central bank of each country would fix the local value of "barte."

STOLEN MAIL FOUND AS ROBBERS SOUGHT

TULARE, Cal., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Mail stolen from the Southern Pacific baggage room here early Saturday was back in the hands of postal officials today as government and local authorities pressed their search for the thieves.

The mail, comprising between 500 and 600 letters, was found beside the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way just within the city limits by W. A. Marshall of Tulare. Some of the letters had been opened and torn, and at least two parcel post packages, including toys intended for some child, were burned, postal officials said.

It was believed payroll warrants destined for rural school teachers were intact, although a check will be required to learn if any are missing. An explosion in the boiler

DISCUSSION OF NEXT CABINET REVIVED TODAY

Roosevelt in Conference With Gov. Woodring of Kansas in Georgia

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Discussion of the new administration's cabinet was revived today with the announcement that Governor Harry L. Woodring of Kansas, would confer with President-elect Roosevelt.

Woodring was due here with Guy H. Hefner, national committeeman from Kansas.

The former's name has been mentioned frequently in the speculation on Democrats believed in line for a post in the Roosevelt official family. He is regarded as an expert of the farm situation and as such, it was argued, would be capable of filling the position as secretary of agriculture.

Woodring, although defeated for re-election as governor, worked hard to swing normally Republican Kansas into the Democratic column.

Despite Roosevelt's repeated statement that "there will be nothing on the cabinet until well after the first of the year," reports persisted he had done considerable work with the problem during his stay here.

Some of his friends were convinced that the treasury portfolio would be offered Senator Carter Glass of Virginia and that of interior to Governor George Dern of Utah. James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, was expected to become postmaster general.

Roosevelt conferred at length over the week end with Senator Bronson Cutting, republican, of New Mexico. Cutting was one of the Progressives who bolted the Hoover ticket to support the governor.

Cutting indicated after his conference that future party alignment, as far as the Progressive Re-

JAP DESTROYER IS SUNK DURING STORM

TOKIO, Dec. 5.—(UP)—The 900-ton Japanese destroyer Sawarabi went down in a storm off Foochow, with more than 50 missing, it was announced today. Fourteen were rescued.

A navy office bulletin describing the sinking said the destroyer was shipwrecked while drifting in a storm at 2 p. m. Monday, 100 nautical miles off the northern extremity of Formosa.

"Fourteen were saved. Accompanying destroyers are trying to effect a rescue. Two cruisers have been rushed from Makao." The Sawarabi is one of the second class destroyers laid down under the 1931 naval program. It is 275 feet long.

Six Mishaps Reported To State Police

Mrs. Sarah Corbett of Panorama Heights Injured in Accident

SEVERAL SPECTACULAR automobile accidents occurred in the county yesterday, in which 16 persons were reported hurt. Several were seriously injured, but none fatally. There were six accidents reported.

M. J. De Reize, of 535 North Glassell street, Orange, is in a serious condition at the Fullerton General hospital as the result of a collision between the car he was driving and one driven by Ward Angel, of North Hollywood, on North Spadra road Saturday night.

De Reize suffered internal injuries and concussion of the brain and his condition is serious. Mrs. Harry Lee, Mrs. G. W. Blum and Mrs. De Reize, all of Orange. They received minor cuts and bruises and were able to go to their homes after being given first aid treatment.

The accident happened on a straightaway, according to officers. No one in the Angel car was reported hurt.

Three persons were injured at 2 a. m. Sunday two and a half miles north of Tustin on Fairhaven avenue, when a car driven by Mrs. Sarah S. Corbett, 45, of Panorama Heights, struck loose gravel, got from beyond the control of the driver and crashed into a tree.

Mrs. Corbett Hurt
Mrs. Corbett, E. E. (Doll) Millburn, 45, and Willard Goodie, 25, all were injured. According to a report of the accident made to the state police, the Corbett machine attempted to pass another car, and in so doing ran off the road into loose gravel. The other car was not involved.

When two cars collided head-on on East Chapman avenue, one-fourth mile east of Santiago street

PAPERS FOR RETURN OF INSULT ARRIVE

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Extradition papers for the return of Samuel Insull, former utilities magnate, to Chicago to answer embezzlement charges, arrived at the United States legation today.

The papers were sent to the foreign ministry for transmission to the ministry of justice and the court of appeals, to fix the date for hearing.

Insull and American officials are ready with evidence to fight the case.

Two arrest warrants charging $35,000 larceny and $30,000 embezzlement were handed the foreign ministry. It was understood that other documentary evidence was being translated and authenticated. The hearing was expected within two weeks.

Insull himself then started starving himself to death. Gandhi heard of the case and appealed in the prisoner's behalf.

"In loyalty to my dear comrade, I demand to share his agony, and offer my own life," the Mahatma declared. "The government's decision amounts to checking the progress of the movement against Untouchability."

Gandhi said he would start his fast again Wednesday unless the case was settled satisfactorily. His recent "fast unto death" protested legislative representations which he considered unfair to the depressed classes.

VICTIMS OF PLANE CRASH ARE SOUGHT

TRENTON, Mich., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Coast guardsmen and aviators were to resume their search today for the bodies of two men and a woman believed to have gone to their death Saturday when their plane fell into Lake Erie near here.

Only the body of Marcella Kopnitsky, 17, Punsutawney, Pa., was recovered.

Those missing and apparently victims of the crash are: Thomas Neal Brown, 29, Detroit; Catherine Seis, 30, Detroit and Patrick Tuohy, 45, Detroit veteran war and commercial pilot.

The four left Detroit City airport Friday for Pittsburgh but were forced to land and spend the night at Toledo due to inclement weather. The fatal mishap occurred while they were flying back to Detroit from the Ohio city.

GANDHI LOSES SIX POUNDS IN HUNGER STRIKE

Refuses to Eat for Twenty-four Hours; Carried on Stretcher Today

POONA, India, Dec. 5.—(UP)—The Mahatma Gandhi was six pounds lighter in weight and so weak he had to be carried on a stretcher today as the result of a 24 hour hunger strike on behalf of an "Untouchable" political prisoner.

Gandhi suspended his fast until Wednesday while prison officials considered the "Untouchable's" case. The prisoner, named Pattawardhan, a high class Brahmin and former professor, offered to do scavenging at the Ratnagiri district jail, a job usually done by Untouchables. Prison officials refused his offer on the grounds that scavenging was done by professionals.

Pattawardhan then started starving himself to death. Gandhi heard of the case and appealed in the prisoner's behalf.

"In loyalty to my dear comrade, I demand to share his agony, and offer my own life," the Mahatma declared. "The government's decision amounts to checking the progress of the movement against Untouchability."

Gandhi said he would start his fast again Wednesday unless the case was settled satisfactorily. His recent "fast unto death" protested legislative representations which he considered unfair to the depressed classes.

Over three score gathered to discuss how best to counteract the rising tide of anti-reclamation sentiment in the east. States represented included Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, Nevada and Colorado.

Marshall N. Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal and leader of Oregon's delegation, explained the conference objective in a word:

"Friends of reclamation want to preserve the continuity in construction on authorized projects and also to meet similar emergencies on existing projects. Funds must be provided for the stricken farmer."

Dana said antagonism against the western reclamation program had developed in the east and some of the foremost problems of the conference will be to devise a method of "selling" the rest of the country on the paramount need of reclamation.

Other delegates amplified the Oregonian's remarks. They pointed out that western reclamation interests were not seeking funds from congress for new projects.

RANCH WORKERS IN RIOT AT VACAVILLE

VACAVILLE, Calif., Dec. 5.—(UP)—All available peace officers were held in readiness here today to quell further outbreaks between citizens and striking workers on nearby fruit ranches.

Two persons were injured and 12 were arrested in a clash yesterday between the strikers and sheriff's deputies. The battle resulted when officers broke up a parade and demonstration by 200 of the strikers in front of the public library.

Nearly 800 citizens milled about the scene as Police Chief Alley, after listening to three of the speakers, declared the speeches were Communist and ordered the gathering to disperse. A general free for all began as the officers moved against the group.

VOTE IS 271 IN FAVOR AS 144 AGAINST

Action Ends Possibility of Congressional Approval at Present Session

FIVE VOTES SHORT

Leaders Believe Defeat of Resolution Today Means Extra Session in March

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(UP)—The house today defeated the Garner resolution for outright repeal of the 18th amendment.

THE RESOLUTION
Article:
"Section 1—The 18th article of amendment is hereby repealed."
"Section 2—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by conventions in three-fourths of the several states within seven years from the date of its submission to the states by congress."

The house's action was believed to have definitely ended the possibility of congressional approval of prohibition repeal at the present short session.

Speaker Garner announced the vote, which was only five votes short of the two-thirds majority necessary to have carried the resolution.

When the speaker, his face flushed but with steady voice, made his announcement a brief cheer came from the membership. However, the great majority of the body which had voted for repeal sat silent in their seats. Their confident hopes for immediate prohibition resubmission to the states was ended.

The galleries, jammed with spectators who had come in anticipation of seeing the house write the beginning of the end of a national prohibition, made no demonstration whatever when the vote was announced.

Congressional leaders were of the opinion that the house's failure to act favorably on outright repeal might be the deciding factor in forcing an extra session of congress after March 4.

Speaker Garner has announced that he would oppose any further repeal votes in the house this session. In answer to a question by Rep. Michener, Mich., assistant Republican leader, regarding the status now in the prohibition question, declined to make a definite answer.

"I will answer that question when the time comes," Garner replied.

JEWELER IS KILLED AND STORE ROBBED

CROCKETT, Calif., Dec. 5.—(UP)—H. L. Whited, jeweler and optician, was murdered shortly after he entered his establishment today.

His body, with the head crushed, was found in the store when customers entered. The jewel cases had been ransacked.

Police believed he might have surprised burglars in the act of robbing the place or that the thieves had entered after he opened his store for the day.

RECLAMATION LEADERS MEET IN SALT LAKE

Charges were made that certain federal bureaus in Washington were openly opposed to reclamation.

Woodward, veteran United States commissioner of reclamation, said the conference should be primarily educational in scope. The big job, he pointed out, was to "convince the east of the west's dependency on reclamation."

On the heels of the reclamation conference, the western governor's conference will meet here Tuesday for the first of a two-day session. The state executives will devote the major part of their opening session to reclamation and follow up with discussions on the reclamation and restoration of silver and the long and short haul railroad problems.

JAPANESE TROOPS ENTER HAILAR CITY

TSITSIHAR, Manchuria, Dec. 5.—(UP)—Japanese troops were reported today to have entered the walled city of Hailar, beyond the Khingan mountains, in their campaign against Chinese who oppose the new government of Manchukuo.

Hailar is the nearest important town to Manchouli, the Japanese objective, on the eastern branch of the Chinese Eastern railway. If the Japanese reached Hailar, it meant that Hsining tunnel, the only possible route beyond the mountains during the present extremely cold weather, was passable and had not been extensively damaged by the Chinese.

The encampment was without sanitary facilities of any kind. Health authorities feared an outbreak of disease. Fourteen marchers were treated at hospitals for influenza, one for pneumonia, and one for dysentery.

It was a weary caravan that wheeled into Washington yesterday under leaden skies. They came from the north, west and south. Their automobiles were stained with yellow loam of the midwest. Cleaner cars that had come down wide concrete ribbons bore New York and Pennsylvania license plates.

Police waited at the District of Columbia line and herded the marchers to the isolated area.

"This is where you stay," Inspector Davis of the Metropolitan police told them.

The 200 women in the march drew blankets around their shoulders against the chill night air. Later most of them were taken to rooming houses. Carl Winter and other leaders of the column wrangled with police, seeking the privilege of camping at nearby camp where part of the marchers army dug in last summer. Their demands were refused and everyone settled down for the night.

Application for a permit for a parade to the capitol will be filed before tomorrow, Herbert Benjamin, secretary of the unemployed council, announced. Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner have refused to grant permission for a demonstration in the capitol grounds.

Today was to be devoted to organization of various groups such as marine workers, veterans, women and "the contingent of youth."

HOUSE DEFEATS GARNER REPEAL BY FIVE VOTES

A number of Democratic members from the south voted in repudiation of their party platform promise of immediate and unqualified repeal. These, along with prohibitionist Republicans, formed a coalition which sent Speaker Garner's resolution down to defeat.

The house adjourned a few minutes after the repeal defeat was announced.

It was a crushing personal defeat to the new vice president-elect, who almost single-handedly forced the repeal issue on a sullen and reluctant house. He had, however, never predicted definite victory, although his party leaders had been unanimous in claiming passage for the resolution by a narrow margin.

It was believed the drastic nature of the Garner repeal resolution had much to do with its failure to secure the requisite two-thirds majority. It provided for outright repeal, with no provision for protection of so-called "dry states," and contained no injunction against the return of the saloon.

Many members in the debate emphasized that they were opposed to the form of the speaker's constitutional amendment more than to the question of reestablishment. Others protested on the floor and in their votes against the resolution because of opposition to passing on a constitutional amendment with only 40 minutes of debate.

Later, Speaker Garner told newspapermen that if the senate saw fit to pass an unqualified repeal resolution he would do all in his power to bring it to a vote in the house.

SHORT SESSION U. S. CONGRESS OPENED TODAY

In the ovation to the vice president-elect.

Chaplain Barney T. Phillips offered the opening prayer in the senate. Vice President Curtis ordered a roll call.

"Let the senate be in order so that senators may hear their names," he shouted above the noise. The roll call proceeded quietly.

Garner ascended to the speaker's dais in the house exactly at noon. After a prayer by Chaplain James S. Montgomery who called upon God "to smile upon our beloved country," and return it to prosperity, the attendance roll call was begun amid much noise.

The chamber was brilliantly lit by a battery of great Kleig lights installed for the benefit of photographers.

Senator Costigan, Dem., Colo., announced the death of his colleague, the late Charles K. Waterman.

The senate adopted a resolution of regret, Senator Dill, Dem., Wash., announced the death of Wesley L. Jones, his late colleague.

Captain Elyot S. Grammar, Jones' Republican successor, took the seat next to Norris.

On motion of Republican Leader Watson, the senate ordered appointment of a committee to inform President Hoover that the senate was in session. Curtis appointed Watson and Democratic Leader Robinson.

The credentials of new senators next were presented, first those of Robert R. Reynolds, Dem., N. C.

Costigan then presented credentials of Walter Walker, Dem., of Colo.

Dill presented credentials of Major Grammer.

Vice President Curtis invited them to be sworn.

Senators lingered on the floor after adjournment. There were pump handle handshakes in profusion and a hubbub of small talk more like the racket of school boys at recess than what one would expect from the United States senate.

As the groups separated it was noticed that many senators were moving in the direction of the House where the politically fascinating question of prohibition was on display.

After the roll call in the House, which consumed 30 minutes, and showed 407 members present, the resignations of Reps. Tilson, of Conn., former Republican leader and Crisp, Dem., Ga., were accepted.

The occasion marked Crisp's and Tilson's retirement from active political life after nearly a quarter of a century. Both have been leaders of their parties.

Tilson returns to private life. Crisp becomes a member of the U. S. tariff commission by appointment of President Hoover.

FEDERATED COUNCIL OF CHURCHES MEET

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Changes in organization designed to make the Federal Council of Christ churches in America more responsible to its constituents were recommended today in a report submitted to the organization's quadrennial meeting.

The report was prepared by the committee on function and structure. It includes proposals that the council shall be a smaller unit and shall meet every two years instead of four, that the executive committee be combined with the administration committee and meet monthly instead of annually and that the various departments while being accorded "initiative and liberty of action in its methods and undertaking, shall be responsible to the executive committee."

WOMAN KILLS HER HUSBAND WITH KNIFE

REDDING, Cal., Dec. 5.—(UP)—George Cummins, 38, died early today from knife wounds and his wife, Mrs. Mabel Burleson Cummins, 25, was held in the county jail here, following a quarrel at their ranch home near Fall River Mills.

Cummins was stabbed twice in the abdomen and died enroute to the hospital here. He told authorities his wife attacked him with a bread knife. When taken into custody by Sheriff W. W. Sublett, Mrs. Cummins claimed her husband had been drinking and threatened to kill her.

The couple married in Reno, October 21, 1931.

publicans are concerned, depended largely upon the accomplishments of the Democratic administration.

Asked specifically if the November victory indicated the liberal element was definitely behind the Democrats, he said:

"The political sentiment is fluid in a way it has never been before and most anything can happen. It is too early, however, to say anything definite."

Roosevelt will depart from Warm Springs tomorrow afternoon going directly to New York City and from there to Albany.

16 INJURED IN AUTO MISHAPS OVER WEEKEND

at 8:30 p.m. yesterday, four persons were injured.

The cars were driven by Chandler T. Johnson, 21, of 1905 Court street, Newport Beach, and Andrew M. Castro, 45, of Cypress. Both drivers claimed the other left his side of the road.

In the Johnson car, Mary Coleman, 16, of 117 Twenty-ninth street, Newport Beach, was injured and in the other car the injured were: Ollie Marshall, 38, Mrs. Ollie Marshall, 38, and Mrs. Elyse Franzen, 27.

The Johnson car was traveling west on Chapman avenue, the Castro car east. The front wheels on both interlocked, it was reported.

Mexicans Hurt

Micayla Rodriguez, 21, riding with Leino Rodriguez, 23, of La Habra, was cut and bruised when that car collided with a machine driven by R. R. Day, 58, of 714 West Holly street. Whittier, according to a report filed with the California Highway Patrol. He was not seriously hurt. The accident happened at Orangefield and Grand avenues, in Buena Park at 6:25 p.m. yesterday.

Enacinto Chachon, Santa Ana Mexican, was taken to the Orange County hospital last night with serious cuts and bruises about the face, received in an automobile accident somewhere in the city last night. No report of the crash has been made. According to information obtained from the hospital, the car in which he was riding turned over, pinning him underneath.

Three persons were hurt at

COUNCIL HOLDS LAST SESSION THIS EVENING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 5.—The city council meets tonight at city hall in regular monthly session. So far as planned at this time, this will be the last session this year of the council, the next meeting being scheduled for the first Monday in January.

The last year has been one of the most momentous in the history of the city council. The city won a victory in the move to obtain its beach, gaining 3500 feet of beach free, following a compromise of a lawsuit.

The city, in its effort to obtain its oil rights, or an interest in the oil pool here, leased the tide-lands, and asked a grant of the lands from the state. This measure was defeated at the November election. It is sure to come up again in some form or other. People of the city voted for tideland drilling nearly three to one and a majority of voters of Orange county and Los Angeles county also approved the plan.

The city also leased a strip of land 30 feet wide bordering the Pacific Electric right of way. This lease is now before the superior court of Orange county and will come up for a hearing about January 15.

HENRY FORD RESTS IN HIS HOME TODAY

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 5.—(UP)—Henry Ford rested in his home here today on doctor's orders but chafed at the delay in returning to "the shop."

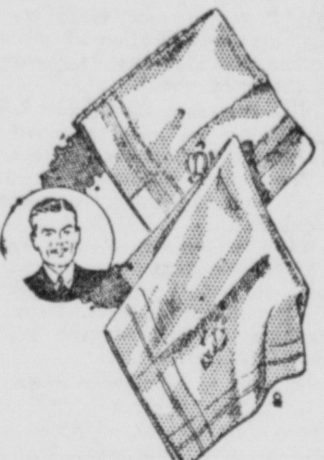

Late Saturday—just one week from his entrance into his hospital for an emergency hernia and appendix operation—Ford was taken home guarded by the same security that marked his entrance to the hospital.

The motor manufacturer was taken through a secluded exit and placed in a car which whisked him to his estate here before the word was given out that he had left the hospital.

Picnic Staged By School Students

BUENA PARK, Dec. 5.—Rolland Upton, principal at the Grand Avenue school, escorted his seventh graders, who were the winners of the recent membership drive for the P.-T. A., on a picnic party to Anaheim city park Friday. Mrs. Edith Rayburn, Mrs. Vernon Criswell, Mrs. Hazel Lieutj, and Mrs. Charles Hillman of the P.-T. A. executive board assisted in entertaining the pupils. Weiners, buns and marshmallows were roasted and games furnished further entertainment.

Members of the winning grade attended the party were Mary Jean Cummins, Lena Crisman, June Dragoman, Opal Farren, Teruko Fujii, Lois Modge, June Lamb, Betty Marxen, Doris McKenzie, Kozuma Mayaya, Edna Palmer, Olga Warsch, Edna Weber, Sodoriko Yamachiko, Harold Horn, Kenneth Jones, Clovis Keller, Cecil Kinney, Mesaki Kiriya, Wilbur Martin, Garner McComber, Jack McAnear, John Nishizu, William Scarborough, Billy Van Loenen, Kenneth Wygal and Donald Groves.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 236, I. O. O. F., will conduct funeral services for our late Bro. J. P. Ryan Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 2 p. m., from Winbiger's Funeral Home. A good attendance is desired. (Adv.) A. L. WATSON, N. G.

PRICE SYSTEM IS ELAYED IN 'TECHNOCRACY'

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—A North American civilization with a standard of living ten times higher than in 1929 was pictured today by Howard Scott, leader of the school of "technocracy" engineers at Columbia university.

Scott, a consulting engineer in the construction of Muscle Shoals, addressed the City club in the first presentation to a lay group of the statistical detail of "technocracy."

"Technocrats" are a group of engineers and technicians who have engaged in a 12-year study of the effects of the machine upon man's employment, reducing his consumption and production in industry to terms of energy.

The high living standard depicted by Scott would evolve from a social order without a price system, debts or wages; but where persons between the ages of 25 and 45 would do all the work in 600 hours a year—or in four hours a day, four days a week, 10 months a year.

"North America is the only continental area in the world with the trained personnel, the equipment and the geological resources to move the human race into a new era," Scott said.

But it was against a background of machine-made gloom that Scott erected his vision of the future.

While man is multiplying the means of production by a "unidirectional and irreversible" technology, he is increasing unemployment in a "price system that depends upon debt for the increase of wealth," Scott said.

Saying there is no way to produce wealth under the price system except by debts, Scott declared that "the world must throw overboard all its wishful thinking from Aristotle to Marx, including economics, the pathology of debt."

"The debt merchants whom society has placed in control on the bridge are trying to say in Portuguese to us engineers in the boiler room that we must reverse the engine or the ship will go on the rocks, while we engineers are trying to explain in Malay that the engine has no reverse gear."

But he declined to commit the "technocrats" to any theory of what the future social order should be like, except to indicate that a unit of energy might replace the price system.

Noting that oscillations from prosperity to depression have been growing more violent, Scott predicted the next depression will "sawing from the maximum to zero." "The technocrats," he said, had forecast in 1920 that there would be a crash in 1930 and had missed it but a year.

There is no end in sight for technological development, he declared, citing numerous new inventions and the possibility of tapping new sources of energy by equalizing the temperatures of the sea water, or by extracting solar energy from the air.

"There is a technological backlog overhanging this country which will make the material backlog in our warehouses look like sawdust," he said.

Driver Arrested After Accident

A. E. Shipman, Fullerton man, was arrested by Fullerton police yesterday after the car he was said to have been driving collided with a car driven by William Nichel, of Los Angeles.

Shipman was lodged in the city jail at Fullerton where he is booked on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, it was reported.

Fifty Gallons Of Gasoline Stolen

Fifty gallons of gasoline were reported stolen from a shed on the property of John Mayes, Santa Ana, Route No. 3, some time last night.

Entrance was made after a lock had been filed off, sheriff's officers, who made an investigation, reported.

Mayes lives a half mile north of Bolsa, on Wright street.

MEMBER OF PIONEER S. A. FAMILY DIES

Miss Katharine Whitehead, 39, a native of Santa Ana and member of a prominent pioneer family of this city, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Virginia Whitehead, of 902 Brown street, late Saturday.

She had been an invalid for many years and an autopsy performed today revealed that her death was directly caused by heart failure following a severe heart attack.

Her father was a pioneer resident of this city, the family having come to this city in 1886. He died here in 1924, leaving his wife who still lives here. He was well known as a rancher.

Miss Whitehead, well known in this city, joined the Santa Ana First Christian church when she was but nine years old and has been an active member ever since.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth, of Orange; one brother, William S. Whitehead, of Irvine; and an uncle, S. B. Roberts, of Santa Ana.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the Harrell and Brown funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment was made in Santa Ana cemetery.

CHESSE TOURNAY TO BE HELD AT Y. M.

Chess players of the community will be interested in plans being made for a big evening of chess at the Santa Ana Y.M.C.A. on next Thursday evening, as announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley.

Arrangements have been made to have Edward P. Elliott, Orange county chess champion, for simultaneous play with all comers, and a number of other notable players have indicated their intention to be present.

Play will start at 7:30 o'clock, with individual games. At 8:30 o'clock, Elliott will undertake simultaneous play with a numerous field of opponents.

All men who are interested in playing chess, or in studying the fine points of the game are invited to come. Prospective players are requested to bring their own playing sets, as the supply at the Y. M. C. A. is limited.

Auxiliary Group Visits Veterans

TUSTIN, Dec. 5.—Motoring to the San Fernando Veterans' hospital, a group of members of the Tustin auxiliary took advantage of Orange county visiting day at the home to deliver 140 pairs of sweaters to the disabled veterans. Mrs. Will Leinberger, publicity chairman, stated today. It was the regular meeting day of the Lorraine Boyd post. The jams and jellies were recently donated to the auxiliary by the community.

Auxiliary members making the trip were Mrs. Hilda Riehl, Mrs. Enid Wilson, Mrs. Hazel Vigor, Mrs. Fern Anderson, Mrs. Jewel Jamieson and Mrs. Mamie Flud.

LEGION BARBECUE BENEFIT FOR JOBLESS SUCCESSFUL; $1250 TO BE DISTRIBUTED

More than 2000 hungry people lined up for "chow" at the benefit barbecue for unemployed of Orange county yesterday, bringing an estimated total of $1250 into the hands of unemployed groups of Orange county for the purchase of foodstuffs, according to Wilbur Getty of the American Legion, in charge of arrangements for the event.

In addition to the barbecue, a lengthy entertainment program was presented by more than 50 entertainers at Irvine park, where the event was staged with marked success.

Chef Frank Valdez and his assistants barbecued 1500 pounds of baby beef and prepared the other dishes that were served. "Leftovers" were used to make sandwiches in the afternoon which were sold to the crowd that gathered to enjoy the entertainment.

The money which was obtained will be used to buy food for unemployed of Orange county and will be divided among the various unemployed associations in the county according to the membership.

Officers patrolled the roads for hours without seeing anything of the car or the men, they reported.

A complaint of a similar nature was made Friday night, Sheriff Logan Jackson said. The driver of the car attempted to crowd the car off the highway, and in the King case, the second bandit in the machine signalled for a stop. In both instances, the intended victims escaped by refusing to stop.

King, who is president of the Monarch Roof company of Los Angeles, was returning here to his home.

Officers patrolled the roads for hours without seeing anything of the car or the men, they reported.

Attended by a large group from Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton, the Santa Ana Twenty-Three club sponsored a dance which was held Saturday night in the Orange American Legion clubhouse. Ernest Layton, of Fullerton, district governor, was also present at the social event.

Gertrude Woodruff sang a group of selections as entertainment features during the evening. She was accompanied by the orchestra.

Joel Ogle was in charge of the arrangements for the dance, assisted by Tevis Westgate and Richard Ewert.

Because of the success of the dance, members of the local young man's service club today were making active preparations to stage a benefit dance shortly after the first of the year. Admission to the affair will include a bundle of clothes or groceries, which will be distributed to needy families in the city.

SUSPECT CAR SOUGHT AFTER REPORTS MADE

Sheriff's officers searched all roads leading towards Long Beach Saturday night for two men in a "big dark car" which were reported to have attempted to stop a machine driven by F. L. King, of 802 South Broadway, in what was believed to have been a hold-up attempt.

King, who is president of the Monarch Roof company of Los Angeles, was returning here to his home.

Officers patrolled the roads for hours without seeing anything of the car or the men, they reported.

A complaint of a similar nature was made Friday night, Sheriff Logan Jackson said. The driver of the car attempted to crowd the car off the highway, and in the King case, the second bandit in the machine signalled for a stop. In both instances, the intended victims escaped by refusing to stop.

REMEDIES FOR BUSINESS BE OUTLINED OPEN IS CALLED

A discussion of the multitude of remedies which the proponents of each declare will stabilize business and bring about an end of the present depression, will be included in a free public lecture tomorrow evening, by Dr. E. J. Miller, professor of economics and dean of men of the University of California at Los Angeles, in the auditorium of the Frances E. Willard Junior High school. The subject of his lecture will be "The Growing Necessity for Business Stability."

The meeting has been arranged by a committee of business men headed by Attorney Stanley Reinsman, and is sponsored by Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, Kiwanis club, California Alumni association, Business and Professional Women's club, Pan Hellenic Society of Orange county, and other organizations.

CONFERENCE ON KEEPING Y. M. GIRL INJURED IN FALL FROM CLIFF

Facing an emergency that may necessitate the closing of the building in Santa Ana and discontinuance of the work here, the board of directors of that organization has called for a meeting of interested citizens.

The meeting, according to a notice sent out by the directorate and signed by O. H. Barr, J. P. Baumgartner, J. P. Burke, S. H. Finley, W. K. Hillyard, T. J. Hunter, and H. W. Lewis, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. building next Thursday night. It will start at 6 o'clock and be a dinner meeting. The directors announce that the conference will end before 8 o'clock.

According to the notice sent out by the board the possibility of closing the building and discontinuing the work is due to failure of finances. The board of directors, however, according to the notice, is not willing to assume responsibility for this final and drastic action until they have had the privilege of consulting with a number of interested citizens.

The call to this conference stresses the fact that those who attend the dinner meeting will not be asked for any financial contributions. The meeting is for soliciting opinions and advice in an effort to prevent the closing of the Y.M.C.A. building and cessation of the organization's activities in this city.

Thelma Simson, 14-year-old Long Beach girl, was badly hurt yesterday afternoon when she fell over a cliff, while walking a trail near the Irvine park. She was taken to the Orange county hospital, where it was said today her condition was satisfactory.

The girl was with a party of other children. She lost her footing and tumbled downward, sliding and falling for about 15 feet, it was said.

She suffered severe cuts and bruises about the face and head and shoulders.

Children's Coughs Need Creomulsion

Always get the best, fastest and surest treatment for your child's cough or cold. Prudent mothers more and more are turning to Creomulsion for any cough or cold that starts.

OLD IRONSIDES WILL VISIT AT NEARBY PORTS

A visit of the famous frigate "Constitution" to the Pacific coast was announced today by Commander E. T. Chew, of San Diego. The famous frigate, known as "Old Ironsides," will be in San Diego from February 5 to 27, and at San Pedro from February 28 until March 20.

The statement announcing the visit follows:

"The Congress of 1825 authorized the reconstruction of the U. S. frigate 'Constitution' but appropriated no money. A campaign was instituted for this purpose was to give school children an educational and patriotic lesson—one that would teach them the traditions and ideals of our forefathers and better prepare them for their duties as citizens. To this plea all school children throughout the whole United States and its possessions responded with such wholehearted enthusiasm and generosity that it was through the contribution of their pennies, nickels and dimes that the restoration of the 'Constitution' was made possible and now has been accomplished.

The "Constitution" is now visiting various ports to enable the general public and especially the school children to see with their own eyes what their generous gifts have accomplished. She will arrive in San Diego on February 27, and remain until February 27; at San Pedro on February 28 and remain until March 20. On her return trip down the coast, she will arrive at San Pedro on July 30 and depart on August 7; arrive at San Diego on August 8 and depart August 15.

Delay Sentence In Perez Case

Sentence of Haim Perez, former proprietor of a bath house at Newport Beach, recently found guilty of attempting to burn the bath house, was delayed this morning when his attorneys, Diehl and Anderson, of Costa Mesa, filed motion for a new trial. Arguments on behalf of the motion will be heard by Superior Judge James L. Allen Friday morning.

Perez was found guilty last week by a jury in department two, superior court and was scheduled to appear for sentence this morning. He had not filed an application for probation.

FILES $25,000 DAMAGE SUIT FOR INJURIES

Alleging that because of injuries received more than a year ago when struck by an automobile, W. G. Dixon, through Mrs. Alice Dixon, his wife who was recently appointed his guardian by the court, has filed suit for $25,000. The suit names Mr. and Mrs. William S. Schultz and their daughter, Marion Schultz, as defendants.

According to the complaint filed in superior court Dixon was struck December 4, 1931, by an automobile owned by the Schultzes and driven by their daughter Marion. The accident happened at the intersection of Commonwealth avenue and Spadra road in Fullerton.

Dixon, who at that time was employed by a merchant's patrol in Fullerton, received a concussion of the brain, a bruise on the head and cuts that have completely and permanently impaired his mental competency, it is alleged. On December 2, last, Dixon was adjudged incompetent and his wife was appointed his guardian.

The suit filed against the Schultzes alleges that in addition to permanently impairing Dixon's mental faculties injuries received in the crash have made him extremely nervous and excitable and has made it impossible for him to sleep with any regularity. Since the accident, the complaint alleges that constant attendance upon him is necessary.

Mrs. Hupp Dies At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Julia C. Hupp, 77, died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ann Johnson, 1810 Bush street. She is also survived by three sons, Georgia H. Hupp of Los Angeles, Charles E. Hupp of Fontana and Joe Hupp of Butler. Mr. Announcement of funeral services will be made later by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street.

PREDICTS 'GUSTO' WILL BE UNOFFICIAL KEYNOTE OF ROOSEVELT ADMINISTRATION

By RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The next administration will have plenty of gusto. Gusto, for better or worse, may even be a sort of an unofficial keynote after Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt becomes president.

Gusto, in fact, was that quality which Roosevelt displayed more than anything else during his memorable visit to Washington for the purpose of conferring with President Hoover on the all-important question of war debts. All Washington was aware it was the first important appearance here since his days as assistant secretary of the navy under Wilson and Secretary Daniels, when no one paid more attention to him than is now paid to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahncke.

The president-elect smiled and laughed his way through two very busy days. Even in reference to his attitude toward the debts in his conference with Hoover he was jovial, according to Democratic congressional leaders who quoted him: "That's not my baby!" And he never lost his gusto.

So many persons have been asking just what Roosevelt said in his "off the record" address to the National Press club, whose dinner guest he was, that your correspondent is moved to write the answer and distribute copies. After the manner of most great statesmen who talk "confidentially" to large social gatherings of newspapermen, he said nothing at all. He smiled—that devil-may-care, rollicking, captivating smile of his. He allowed it to be known that he appreciated the party and intimated that he would like to stay all night but would have to get along.

He said that he was going to talk "off the record," that it was mighty nice to be able to talk "off the record" for a change and that he hoped to be able to talk "off the record" often in the future. And he told a couple of funny stories and everybody laughed and cheered.

And every time the male comedian said something or a female songstress let go an especially warm line, all the boys who had crammed in at $5 apiece craned their necks back at Governor Roosevelt to see whether he was smiling or not. He usually was.

RANCHER USES REVOLVER TO END HIS LIFE

Tired of life and ill, J. W. Johnston, 66, rancher of Atwood, fatally wounded himself by firing a .38 calibre pistol ball through his body yesterday afternoon, while alone in his home on his small ranch.

He died at 4:55 a. m. today in the Fullerton General hospital, following an operation which was performed to save his life. Johnston was found lying at the foot of his bed, on the floor by a neighbor, Ben Peralta. Peralta notified officers and Johnston was removed to the hospital. He was conscious and declared he had attempted to take his own life, saying he had been ill for more than a year and that he was tired of living. He left no note.

The bullet entered Johnston's body just below the heart and penetrated the body. It was found under the bed by deputy sheriffs.

Johnston shot himself about 2 p. m. yesterday. He was not found until 5:30 p. m.

The body was removed today to the McAulay and Suters funeral parlors at Fullerton. No inquest will be held. Johnston was a widower. He has a daughter from whom he was estranged living somewhere in California, it was said, but she has not been notified.

2000 PROTEST SUNDAY BALL AT CITY BOWL

Proposal to open the Municipal Bowl for baseball games or other sports on Sundays is meeting with considerable opposition among the churches, Bible schools and among property owners in the vicinity of the Bowl. It is reported today. According to Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Ministerial Union, protests with approximately 2000 signatures will be presented at the meeting of the city council tonight.

These petitions were circulated yesterday among the churches and Bible classes of the city for signatures. This petition read: "We the undersigned residents of Santa Ana request that the Municipal Bowl be not opened for Sunday sports and entertainment." The petitions have been sent to City Clerk Ed Vegely for presentation tonight at the regular council meeting. Smedley said that considerable opposition to the proposed Sunday opening of the Bowl had been voiced by people living in the district. This protest was instrumental in the Ministerial Union's action in circulating the petitions.

ARREST THREE MEN IN ACT OF TAKING FRUIT

Three Fullerton men captured early last night in the San Joaquin Fruit company avocado grove by officers of the Orange county fruit patrol, working out of the district attorney's office, have announced their intention of going before Justice of Peace McCharles at Tustin today and pleading guilty to charges of petty theft, it is reported by officers.

The men taken in custody were Bert Holman, 32, 411 South Harvard; W. G. Craig, 126 East Truslow street, and Ray Shipman, 22, 123 South Harvard street, all of Fullerton.

When arrested the men were in the avocado grove at Irvine and had picked a half sack of avocados, officers reported. They had 11 empty sacks with them. Officers of the fruit patrol watched the trio enter the grove and caught them while stripping fruit off the trees.

The avocado property of the San Joaquin Fruit company is protected with heavy bear traps. Prepared for this emergency the men had, in addition to their sacks, a heavy steel bar saw which they said they had brought along in the event any of the traps were sprung by them.

PASTOR STARTS FIFTH YEAR IN S. A. PASTORATE

VITAL RELIGIOUS TRUTHS STRESSED IN SERMON BY REV. WALTER S. BUCHANAN

"Truths To Be Remembered" was the theme of the sermon by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan at the First Christian church yesterday morning in which the pastor stressed vital religious truths for his congregation.

Yesterday marked the beginning of the fifth year of pastorate of the Rev. Harry Evan Owings in the First Baptist church, here. At the morning service Elmer Steffen, on behalf of the congregation presented a basket of roses and poppies to Mr. and Mrs. Owings, while the congregation arose to sing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Reverend Owings, with Mrs. Owings, son Harry Jr. and daughter Elaine, came to Santa Ana December 1, 1928, from his former pastorate in Granville, Ohio. The First Baptist church was established here in October 1869, a few months after William Spurgeon had the ground surveyed and laid out into town lots establishing the town of Santa Ana. The present church site was a gift from Mr. Spurgeon and upon it was erected the first church building.

The pastor's sermon was based on the text from Hebrews, "for in that He himself suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted." In other words, Jesus had been "through the mill." And no one is able to help a man who suffers like the man who has suffered in the same way. The man who has had the fearful struggle with poverty knows how to furnish help to the man who is down and out. The man who has fought with all the untoward conditions attendant upon heredity and surroundings that handicap can offer the best assistance to the man who feels the same chain and weight holding him back. One who has known the fierce struggle to hold to the highest he knows when it is so tempting to give up to the lower and easier way knows best how to give the needed incentive to the fellow who is engaged in the same hard conflict.

Jesus' career was one of suffering and pain under trial. The great temptation experience and the victory meant the pain of loneliness and misunderstood leadership. Gethsemane meant giving up a young man's hunger for life to suffer death in doing God's will. His home and kinfolk thought him crazy. His church called him heretic. His townsmen turned on him to push him over the cliff to death. His race called him unpatriotic and abandoned him to the Romans to do to death, calling His blood to be on their heads. His body was torn and lacerated on Calvary. His heart broke under the weight of the sins of men which He carried there.

Such a sufferer knows how to stoop to "share our sharpest pang, our bitterest tear." With such a Spirit enthroned at the heart of the universe there is hope still for this troubled world and hope for every man no matter what the weight and the pain of his wretchedness and woe.

Tustin P.T.A. Plans Christmas Musical Program

TUSTIN, Dec. 5.—A Christmas musical program will be presented by the kindergarten under the direction of Miss Mildred Morrow and Miss H. Ruth Taylor at 2:30 p. m., December 15, in the kindergarten room, Mrs. Porter Luther, program chairman of the Grammar School P.T.A., announced today. All parents and interested friends are asked to keep this date in mind and attend the entertainment.

"SEVEN-SEALED BOOK" OFFERS SERMON TOPIC

"The Seven-Sealed Book," was the topic chosen yesterday by the Rev. Fred A. Flora, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, for his sermon, the fifth in a series on the Book of Revelations.

In his sermon the pastor explained this phase of Revelations in part as follows:

"Our attention is drawn today to a seven-sealed book in the hand of Him who sat on the throne. The occupant of the throne is no doubt God the Father. At first no man was found worthy to open the book and to loose the seals and John wept that such was the case until one of the elders announced that the Lion of the Tribe of Judah had prevailed to open the mysterious book."

"Our first clue to what this book is is drawn from the fact that seals have to do with the earth. The believers of this age are said to be sealed unto the day of redemption Eph. 1:13-14 and in Rev. chapter 6, 144,000 people of Israel are sealed, beside the book which was really a roll like a legal document was sealed as such legal documents are even unto this day."

"This book then seems to represent the title deed to the earth and the Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Jesus Christ, is about to take it and claim that for which He has paid the redemptive price. Let us recount briefly, that Satan seems to have been in the original creation the mighty prince who had dominion over this earth, Isa. 14 and Ezek. 28, but who, because of being lifted up with pride, was dispossessed and his domain brought under judgment."

"Later God fitted up the earth for man and placed him upon it but Satan comes and through craft again obtains authority which he has held during the centuries for the Lord himself spoke of him when He was here in the world as the prince of this world. But now the Lord is about to bring judgment and take possession which he does in the breaking of the seals and the events which follow."

First the Anti-Christ appears as the rider of the white horse followed by war, famine, death, the martyred remnant and universal earth and heavenly disturbances. The 144,000 are sealed and become no doubt the missionary group preaching the gospel of the kingdom that Jesus says in Matt. 24 shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations and then shall the end come."

"As a result of this preaching there is seen the great multitude of all nations and kindreds of tongues and people who are saved and before the throne of God. The breaking of the seventh seal brings a period of silence in heaven and when we read everywhere in the Word of the great hymns of praise and adoration that are continually heard there we can comprehend something of the quietness when for half an hour there is perfect silence. This seems to be in anticipation of the tremendous things that are about to take place in the sounding of the trumpets and the pouring out of the vials which follow and brings us face to face with conditions as they will obtain when the day of grace is over and God begins to speak in judgment."

NATURE PICTURES RESURRECTION PLAN

"If Jesus was an impostor, what did he hope to gain?" asked Evangelist J. Emmett Wainwright at the Church of Christ, Fairview and Birch, last evening. "Impostors invariably have selfish motives in mind, but Jesus promptly spurned position and pageantry."

Discussing "What Think Ye of Christ?" the evangelist continued: "Nature is as replete with things we do not understand as the Bible. Jesus turned water into wine; nature does likewise every year. Every birth is enshrouded in a mystery inexplicable by finite minds. The virgin birth fulfills a prophecy."

"The vicarious death of Christ (innocent dying for the guilty) should not be rejected as an absurdity; consider the daily sacrifices of animals and vegetables in order to preserve physical life."

"The resurrection of Christ fulfills redemption's plan. Nature, in a language of her own, makes a yearly demonstration of this possibility. In mid-winter there is death on every hand. Farmers and gardeners turn undertaker in late winter and bury millions of little bodies (seeds). In a few weeks there is a general resurrection."

"Christ The Master-Builders," tonight. "Aphorisms on Happiness," 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Party Observes Third Birthday

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 5.—Billy Johnson, young son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell I. Johnson, of 211 Van Buren street, celebrated his third birthday anniversary with a party Friday. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Ferguson, and aunt and cousin, Mrs. H. E. Hoeker and Robert Hoeker, of Arcadia, came for the day and there was an anniversary dinner served at noon while a children's party was held at 3 o'clock. Refreshments were served.

Children invited to enjoy the party with Billy were Robert Hoeker, Arcadia; Florence and Jimmie Dale, Patricia and Bobbie Heath, Eugene Luff, Dorothy Rodon, Joyce Campbell, Sammy Joyce Taves, and Billy's young sister, Jean Johnson.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

BOLSA, Dec. 5.—Donald Jesse, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jesse, observed his eighth birthday anniversary last week, his mother giving a dinner party for him at which two other children, his cousin, Betty Aler, and a friend, Frank Warner, of Talbert, were guests. There was a birthday cake with candles as the central decoration of the dinner table.

WORKER WILL TELL TALE OF MISSION WORK

Continuing with the series of foreign mission work due to the legislative barriers being raised particularly in Latin-American countries in the conduct of missionary work. He said that he feels that the time is short for foreign mission work and all the ground that can be gained must be gained immediately.

The Institute of which the Reverend Malmstrom is dean is one of two such organizations in Guatemala serving the five Central American republics. The Robinson Institute is for the Indians and has representatives of five tribes in the school. Tribes represented there are the Cakchiquel, Quiché, Zutugil, Mam and Nebaj. The other Institute, at Guatemala City is for the Ladinos or Spanish speaking people.

District Bankers Back Controlled Citrus Marketing

UNITED ACTION ON IMPORTANT MATTER TAKEN

Backing of bankers in this district to a plan for controlled marketing of surplus citrus crops in California was given in a resolution adopted by Group 4 of the California Bankers' association at a meeting held at Calexico Saturday which was attended by a group of Orange county bankers.

The resolution was adopted only after having been fully discussed and the vote on the matter was unanimous. It was introduced by C. E. Brouse, president of the Citizens National bank of Riverside.

E. B. Sprague of the Santa Ana Farmers and Merchants Savings bank, who is president of the group, presided at the meeting.

Following is the text of the resolution which was adopted:

"Whereas, the citrus industry of California is of such commanding size and economic importance as to affect the prosperity and well-being of many thousands of persons in this state; and

"Whereas, only through shipper cooperation and well regulated movement of the citrus crops to meet consumer demands can an equitable price scale be maintained, and the grower assured of profit for his labors and a return on his investment; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, by Group 4 California Bankers' association, comprising the bankers in the counties of Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego, and Imperial, meeting in Calexico, California, December 3, 1932, that all agencies handling citrus fruit be urged to give the fullest cooperation in the shipment of their product to the end that the industry be stabilized and fair prices received; and be it further

"Resolved, that such agencies be advised it is the opinion of this group that, should dis-organization of the industry result it is obvious the credit of citrus growers will be impaired and the borrowing power of the industry reduced.

"We recommend that the chair appoint a committee with power to act, said committee to foster an educational campaign to inform the citrus growers of this district of the danger of uncontrolled marketing of surplus crops."

Yuletide Goodies To Be Shown At Cooking School

Demonstrations and recipes for making Christmas cookies and puddings will be given by Margaret Stroum, director of the Southern Counties Gas company home service department, at the cooking class to be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Gas company office on Second street, it was announced today.

The director will show those in attendance how to make dream bars, molasses cookies, date nut loaves, sugar top cookies, butter cookies, Christmas plum pudding and chocolate icebox pinwheels. Recipes for making the above articles will be given out.

COLDS GO THROUGH 3 STAGES!

And They are Far Easier Stopped in the First than in the Second or Third!

A cold ordinarily passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Relief is twice as easy in the first stage.

For prompt relief take a couple of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately upon catching cold. This will usually expel the cold overnight and thus prevent the spread of the infection within your system.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is effective because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the cold germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippiness. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. Contains no narcotics and produces no bad after effects. It is regarded the world over as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane-wrapped. For sale in every drug store in America. Make it your first-aid in all cases of colds and grippiness. Accept no substitutes.

LIFE STORY OF FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

By Leland M. Ross and Allan W. Grobin

(This intimate story of the life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, beginning with the time his father took him as a 5-year-old to call on his classmate, Grover Cleveland, then president of the United States, carries the reader through an interesting boyhood on the family farm at Hyde Park, N. Y., his student days at Groton, Harvard and Columbia Law School, and the development of his political career, which began with a New York State Senate seat. This biography is entirely authentic. The preceding installment told of F. D.'s courageous fight against the after-effects of infantile paralysis, and of the work of the Warm Springs Foundation for cripples, which he established in Georgia, after deriving great benefit from the baths there. He had again taken an active interest in practice of law, business and politics as he watched his five children growing to maturity.

INSTALLMENT 18.

Meanwhile, Franklin D. Roosevelt was writing into political history another great chapter in the "Al and Frank" story, was laying another stone in the sarcophagus of the Old Order at Tammany.

In 1918 and 1920 he had supported Smith. In 1924 Smith had come to him for help in obtaining the nomination. And now, in 1928, he was willing and anxious to help again. . . . After the New York defeat of 1920 and the disappointment of 1924, F. D.'s friendly urging had done much toward keeping Smith in public life and in the Executive Chamber at Albany.

Roosevelt was willing to do anything in his power to help—except run for office himself. He had been urged to run for the Senate or the governorship in 1924 to help save the state for John W. Davis. He had flatly refused; although he had campaigned vigorously for Davis.

In 1926 he had again refused the senatorial nomination and likewise the post of Police Commissioner in New York City. Yet in that same year he had toured the state speaking in behalf of Governor Smith's re-election. He had had a real part in piling up "Al's" record majority of more than 300,000 over Governor Miller in 1922. Mentioned frequently as the 1928 presidential nominee, Roosevelt ignored his own mounting popularity and set about marshaling the Smith forces.

The tactics of 1924 were reversed. Able to begin early this time, Smith's friends accomplished a quiet, unobtrusive mobilization. In states where a favorite son was in the field, they refused to enter Smith at all, lest ill-will be created. Yet so powerful was the organization thus built that William Gibbs McAdoo, the stumbling-block of 1924, did not even permit his candidacy to be formally launched.

When the convention was a few weeks away, Roosevelt was confident that Smith would be nominated. And when he arrived in Houston, Texas, he was predicting "Smith on the first ballot."

A story is often told of that convention in which his assurance is illustrated. He had had prepared blank ballots for the convenience of newspaper men.

"You haven't made room for more than one roll call?" they asked.

"No," F. D. is reputed to have said, grinning his most confident grin, "there's room for only one."

The nomination speech itself was a problem for the Smith supporters. Someone with a national acquaintance—ship was needed. Various orators were considered and for various reasons were discarded. Eventually, as in 1924, Roosevelt himself was chosen. . . .

Episcopalian, non-Tammany, and the hero of the famous Happy Warrior speech!

Shortly after the convention opened, a strange thing—yet a thing to which Democrats were becoming accustomed—occurred. It became quite apparent that the popularity of Smith was rivalled by that of another man.

When Roosevelt's name was first mentioned, the delegates responded with a cheer that shook the rafters. But not until the Democracy was in the midst of nomination speeches did they really express themselves. Hours of bombastic oratory had lulled them to semi-slumber. It was torturingly hot and they were tired, bored, uncomfortable in their wilted collars and clinging clothes.

Roosevelt arose. Instantly the convention was electrified. The hall trembled with the ovation they gave him as he walked to the platform.

The crutches were gone. Using one cane and with his hand on the arm of his son, Elliott, F. D. mounted the platform and faced the assemblage. As in 1924 Roosevelt himself had to quell his audience. When quiet and attentiveness replaced the din, he said:

"I come for the third time to urge upon a convention of my party the nomination of the governor of the state of New York. The faith I held I still hold. It has been justified in the achievement. The whole country has now learned the measure of his greatness."

"During the last four years his every act has been under the searchlight of friend and foe, and he has not been found wanting."

Throughout the speech, it was obvious that his candidate was to be the candidate of the convention. When he reached his concluding paragraphs, the battle was already won.

"We offer one who has the will to win—who not only deserves success but commands it. Victory is his habit—the Happy Warrior—Alfred E. Smith."

After that battle cry, it was all over but the shouting. The cheering convention nominated Smith and selected Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas as his running mate. The battle of 1928 was on—and the Happy Warrior was a principal on the field for which he had longed more than a decade.

Roosevelt, his goal reached, prepared to retire to private life as he had done in 1924. He would campaign for Smith and then—law, business, and his 400,000 cripples.

GERMANY KEY TO PROBLEMS

War Debts Depend On Arms Cuts

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Dec. 5.—It probably would require little exaggeration to say that Germany, defeated in war, has been victorious in peace.

Germany holds the key to the twin problems of war debts and disarmament that confront the world today. It was the war debt problem that brought President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt together in a conference in Washington, whereas the question of disarmament is to be renewed at the forthcoming conference at Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations.

The two issues sum up like this:

War Debts

Uncle Sam's debtor nations in Europe are depending largely on collection of reparations from Germany to pay their huge war debts to the United States. The original set-up stipulated that in 60 years Germany was to pay reparations of $26,000,000,000 to these allies and that the latter were to pay $22,000,000,000 (in principal and interest) on their debts. The effect of Germany's refusal or inability to pay further reparations is clear, despite Washington's repeated refusal to recognize any connection between reparations and war debts.

The Hoover moratorium halted payment of reparations and war debts for one year. Recently, Great Britain and other nations agreed to reduce German reparations to $714,000,000 on condition that this should apply of Uncle Sam would cancel or make material reductions in the war debts they owe. More recently, Great Britain, France and other nations have asked Washington for suspension of debt payments due Dec. 15 and conferences with a view toward "revision."

Disarmament

Various recent proposals for disarmament in Europe take into consideration Germany's demand for military equality or permission to re-arm, denied under the Versailles treaty. Both the French proposal of Premier Herriot and the more recent proposal of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, are apparently bids for Germany to return to the conference to disarmament which she balked last summer.

Without Germany's co-operation the success of any disarmament play in Europe would be very doubtful. Any effort to induce France or Great Britain to reduce their forces while a dissatisfied and non-co-operative Germany is still seething under the restrictions imposed at Versailles probably would be futile.

The cold facts in the case are that the Germans have never ceased their intention to re-arm if rival European powers did not take active steps to disarm. This has been repeated many times in the past.

Chancellor Bruening, when in power, emphasized that a nation of 65,000,000 people would not long remain satisfied with an army and navy suited to five millions. At the disarmament conference of last July, Herr Brüning, Germany's representative, said the Reich could take no part in any further conference unless there was a definite recognition of equality of rights between nations.

That this position has not fallen upon deaf ears is indicated by the recent proposals by Herriot and Simon. Pulling in agreement on the Herriot plan, the Simon plan or the more simple Hoover plan, there is no doubt in anybody's mind as to what Germany intends to do.

Schleicher Holds Power

General Kurt von Schleicher, who is the real power behind the government in Germany, has made his goals clear to everybody in speeches and articles written for German army papers. More over, he dotted the 'i's and crossed the 't's for all the world in a recent interview he gave an important Fascist newspaper of Naples. Said General von Schleicher:

"Germany desires, as before, a general disarmament, decisive and rapid. It bases this not wholly upon the fact that the exaggerated costs of armaments stop the economic convalescence of the world, but also upon the fact that its own disarmament which, according to the solemn promises of the allies in the peace treaty, was to constitute the preface of a general disarmament that one considered in 1919 as the principal task of the League of Nations."

He said last July's conference was a total failure because certain states were not concerned with the security of all the nations, but merely with a unilateral security by means of disarming only some nations. Germany, he said, was not to be treated for ever as if she were a pariah.

General von Seeckt, when minister of defense, never made any secret of the way Germany should re-arm. He should, he outlined, enlarge her professional army of 100,000 men now allowed her by the Versailles treaty. Instead of the men enlisting for a period of 12 years, as now required, they would enlist for six years. Also, Germany should have a militia consisting of the youth of the nation, to serve for three months to get military training.

French Are Fearful

The French are under no illusions as to what the Von Seeckt plan means. Germany would have a highly trained professional army to be used as shock troops, followed by hundreds of thousands of young men with militia training.

It has long been a mystery in Europe as to why the German army and navy should cost so much. Last year's figure, as reported to the League of Nations, was $175,000,000. The French have claimed that, in addition, there were secret funds and the big cost was due to secret laboratories where new implements and methods of warfare were being tried.

General Niessel of France, who was president of the International Commission of Control of German Armaments, has cited the menace of Germany's commercial air fleet to France. He says Germany now has 1100 aircraft, or three times what it had in 1928, and that at least 500 of these could rapidly be converted into military aircraft.

To add to the French excitement the Steel Helmets, composed largely of veterans of the World War, recently held a parade of 175,000 men in Berlin, the parade being reviewed by members of the government and most of the sons of the former Kaiser.

The French Press points to this with great alarm. It says that despite the Versailles treaty limitations, Germany really has a potential army of 500,000 armed men, 100,000 in the regular army, 100,000 highly trained Prussian police, 400,000 trained men in the Brown Shirt Army of Adolf Hitler and 200,000 in the Steel Helmets.

GERMANY'S NEW MILITARISM

CIVIC MUSIC CONCERT SET FOR THURSDAY

Coe Glade, the newest sensation of the Chicago Civic Opera, has recently been acclaimed the greatest of current "Carmens." Music lovers of Santa Ana and Orange county today were pleased to learn that she will include two of the most famous arias, the "Habanera" and the "Seguidilla" on her recital program here next Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock at the Ebell clubhouse.

The concert will be given Thursday and not Tuesday as reported in error Saturday.

The concert is sponsored by the Civic Music Association of Orange county, and officials of the organization today were planning to care for a large number of residents of the county who are expected to take advantage of the opportunity to hear the famous singer.

"In compiling my programs," said Miss Glade recently, "I think only of the pleasure that is due my audiences. It is both unfair and preposterous to force upon one's listeners compositions that simply happen to be considered highbrow or arty. There is so much really great music, however, both ancient and modern, that I have a hard time deciding what not to sing."

Carl Van Doren Speaks Thursday

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Carl Van Doren, writer, publisher, critic, and editor-in-chief of the Literary Guild, New York, is to be guest lecturer at the University of Southern California on Thursday evening, December 8, when a highlight of the U.S.C. annual alumni homecoming program is sponsored by Epsilon Phi, national English fraternity. Trojan homecoming dates are December 5 to 10 inclusive.

"Why and How Writers Write" is the subject of Dr. Van Doren's lecture, which is to be open to the public.

"It's a Six at $60 Less than Last Year.

It takes Values like this New Plymouth to start Business Going Again"

BY WALTER P. CHRYSLER

"We are all anxious for the return of better times. But I for one do not believe that better times will be brought back just by talking . . . or by merely waiting. Someone must start something . . . and with that idea we introduced the Plymouth Six.

"We made it a completely new car. We spent $9,000,000 on tools, equipment and research. Our raw material commitments amount to $42,000,000.

"We did all this because we were convinced that there are many people who can buy new cars now . . . if offered an outstanding value. So look at the new Plymouth before you buy."

PLYMOUTH engineers knew that you wanted a smooth surge of power . . . so they built a 70-horsepower Six with Floating Power! They knew that Americans hate to be squeezed in . . . and so they designed a full-sized family car!

They made it safer than other low-priced cars . . . by giving you hydraulic four-wheel brakes, a safety-steel body, a safety-glass windshield!

They achieved new economy of gas, oil, tires and upkeep.

NEW LOW PRICES: Business Coupe $495, Rumble Seat Coupe $445, 4-Door Sedan $575, Convertible Coupe $595; all prices F.O.B. factory. Convenient terms. Optional—Automatic Clutch $45. Deluxe Safety Glass Windows—Coupe $10, Sedan $16.50.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

GROWERS GET $50,000 FROM LEMON HOUSE

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—It is expected that about 400 cars of lemons will be shipped through the Central Lemon association during the season of 1932, according to a recent survey. The final payment of the year was made to growers connected with the house the latter part of the week and checks totaling about $50,000 were sent out. The past year 319 cars of lemons were shipped, according to Roy Runkle, manager and secretary of the association.

Quality of the fruit of the 1932 crop is said to be especially good and harvesting will begin sometime after the first of the year. The estimate of the crop for 1933 is based on present indications with favorable weather conditions prevailing.

During the past year about 250 persons have been employed at the Central Lemon plant and a five-day week schedule has prevailed in order to give work to more people.

P.T.A. Council Members to Hold Session on Dec. 7

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Parent-Teacher association activities for the month of December are to begin Wednesday, when members of the City Council P.T.A. will hold an all day meeting in the home of Mrs. Faye Irwin at Irvine park. A covered dish luncheon is to be served at noon, with the business session following. Mrs. Glenn Reck, president, is to be in charge.

Other Parent-Teacher groups of the city are holding their meetings earlier than usual, because of the holidays, and are completing plans for Christmas programs. Maple P.T.A. is to meet December 13; West Orange, December 16 and Killifer December 14.

Hold Shower For Miss Clara Heim

OLIVE, Dec. 5.—Mrs. William F. Paulus, Miss Florence Heim and Miss Esther Heim were joint hostesses at a pre-nuptial shower at the Paulus home on Heim avenue Friday evening, given in honor of Miss Clara Heim, who will soon be married to Paul Beckman, of Orange.

The evening was spent at "500," prizes being awarded to Mrs. Rudy Heman, Mrs. Alvin Heman and Miss Velma Heim. The future bride was presented with a set of dinner dishes by the guests.

A two-course luncheon was served by the hostesses on the card tables, which were centered with tiny dolls dressed as bridesmaids, while the table, at which the bride was seated, was graced with a miniature bride.

The invited guests were, besides the guest of honor, Mrs. G. G. Beckman, of Orange, mother of the groom-to-be; Mrs. Albert Heim, mother of the bride-elect; Miss Clara Beckman; Miss Ella Bandick and Mrs. Alfred Bandick, all of Orange; Mrs. Harold Mieser, Mrs. C. O. Heim, Mrs. Fred Guenther, Jr., Mrs. Rudy Heman, Mrs. Alvin Heman, Miss Sarah Gollin, Miss Goldie Hughes, Miss Velma Heim and Miss Edna Heim.

'Walnut History' 20-30 Club Topic Wednesday Night

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Harry Lewis of Santa Ana will speak on "The Walnut History of Orange County" at the regular meeting of the 20-30 club at Robinson's cafe Wednesday. The usual dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock with V. G. Wolfe, president, in charge of the meeting.

BEACH PASTOR GIVES SERMON IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Dec. 5.—The Rev. James C. Fisk, pastor of Friends church, and Rev. T. K. Matthews, pastor of Bethel church, Long Beach, made an exchange of pulpits Sunday morning. As a lesson the Rev. Mr. Matthews read the sixth chapter of Malachi, beginning with the third verse. He used as texts, I Corinthians, 4:1-2, "Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover it is required of stewards, that a man be faithful." Also I Peter 4:10—"As every man hath received the gift even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of God."

He said in part, "The subject of tithing, I notice, is not preached on by many of my good friends in the ministry. It is essentially in the human mind and heart to be selfish. From childhood up, the makeup of most people is a love of self and when there is an exception, it is very unusual. We speak of my and mine a great deal, but the older we grow, the more we realize that the peace of God and the grace of God are steadfast and abiding. Some will say, 'There isn't much I can give.' 'It would seem to me that if the Lord has given us anything, we should feel highly honored. When we have a gift from God, we must be faithful in its use. The Lord has conferred on some of His people some beautiful talents. We are living in a day when there is a tremendous pull for us to exercise our talents in a selfish way. Those who have a talent of singing should sing the gospel. Some are possessed with a talent for organization. You may not be a musician nor a business man, but let us use all the talent we have for the glory of God. There is always something we can do for Him."

"I wonder how many of us have thought 'my time is my own.' But the Lord has given us the time. He is the King on the throne. God has had your breath in His hand and you haven't glorified God. We may say 'my time is my own,' but our talents and our time were given to us from God. We do not want to come to the end, and have to say, 'Oh, friend, how foolish I have been.' It is pitiful to see a man who has grown old, and has missed his calling. Will you not believe what I say, our time is not our own, we are called all too quickly before the judgment throne."

Quilting Party Is Held By Club

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Mrs. W. C. Hanger and her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Frye, joined in entertaining members of the Kith and Kin club Friday afternoon in the Frye home, 624 South Orange street. Luncheon served at noon came as a pleasant interlude to a day of sewing. Guests spent the time quilting for Mrs. Frye.

Those present were Mrs. Dora Lambertson of Costa Mesa; Mrs. Orlo Hobbs, Mrs. Ray Valentine, Mrs. Fred Hobbs, Mrs. J. D. Perry, Mrs. Earl Hobbs, Mrs. Donald Burnette, of Orange; Mrs. P. L. Etchison of Santa Ana and Mrs. Frye, together with special guests, Mrs. Matt Miller and daughter, De Elita, of Los Angeles, formerly of Nebraska.

The club's next meeting is to be held January 6 in the home of Mrs. Lambertson in Costa Mesa.

Stop Bad Breath

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are known for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets brings no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

TWO MEETINGS ARRANGED FOR GIRLS' GROUP

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Members of the Girls' Athletic association of Orange Union High school are making plans for two meetings, one a regular session to be held Tuesday afternoon and the other the annual football banquet to be held December 16.

The program for tomorrow's meeting will be an exchange affair provided by the G. A. A. of Anaheim Union High school and will be held in the third floor auditorium. During the meeting, plans will be made for the return program which Orange students will give later for the Anaheim association.

The committee for the football banquet is planning to use a red and silver color scheme, carrying it out with poinsettias and silver Christmas trees. It is hoped to obtain Roy Mohler as the speaker of the evening. The second year drama class is to present skits, and the Santa Ana Junior college quartet will give selections.

Those serving at the banquet plan to observe the Christmas theme by wearing white dresses, red aprons and red and white caps.

WILLING WORKERS RE-ELECT OFFICERS

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Meeting in the home of Mrs. Rozalia Smith, North Shafter street, Friday, members of the Willing Workers' society re-elected all of their present officers to serve for another term. They include Mrs. Etta Huffman, president; Mrs. Grace Deck, senior vice president; Mrs. Mercy Van Buren, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Groves, treasurer.

The business session followed a covered dish luncheon, served at noon. Mrs. Van Buren and Mrs. Groves gave their annual reports. Following, Mrs. Freda Porter talked on the eighth book of John. Plans were made for the next meeting, to be held December 16 in the home of Mrs. Euphemia Ralls. A Christmas party will be held at this time.

Those present were Mesdames Etta Huffman, Charles Grove, Lealand Hall, Mary Barnett, A. R. Kerns, Grace Deck, Mabel Elliott, Annie Laurie, Gladys McDonald, Florence Merriman, Blanche Campbell, Sophia Lusk, Mercy Van Buren, Mary Miller, Pickton, Freda Porter and the hostess, Mrs. Smith.

P.T.A. Members Arrange Christmas Party For Pupils

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Holding a special meeting in the school, members of West Orange P.T.A. executive board made plans for a Christmas meeting to be held December 16. This will be a program and party for children of the school and will take place the last day before their Christmas vacation.

Executive board members are planning a benefit party for December 13 and are to further arrangements when a committee meets Monday.

Those present this week were Mesdames Leslie Colman, Fred Krohe, Ray Bradford, Earl Vite, Royal Hager, Finley Roy, C. C. Hatch, Gilbert Bradford, Lotta Brandon, C. H. Adams and Oliver Wickersheim.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Mrs. W. C. Hanger, 624 South Orange street, is spending this week in Los Angeles with Mrs. Matt Miller, accompanying Mrs. Miller and her daughter, De Elita, home, after they had been overnight guests in Orange.

Sew and Sell club members raised a satisfactory sum for their treasury when they held their Christmas bazaar all day Saturday at the corner of Orange and Chapman avenues.

Mrs. Eva Conlee and son, James, have moved from Mission courts to the Fernald apartments, 207 West Palmyra avenue. They are former residents of Long Beach.

The Rev. H. F. Sheerer, pastor of the First Baptist church, was in Whittier Sunday conducting morning and evening services in Calvary Baptist church of this city. The Rev. John McFarlane, pastor of the latter church, has been conducting revival meetings in Orange for the past two weeks.

Miss Dorothy Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harris, is spending week in Hemet with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Harris.

Percy J. Green, of the Orange Union High school music department, spent Saturday in Hollywood, attending a one-day meeting of the Western conference of public school music supervisors at Hotel Roosevelt.

Mrs. Isahel Newby, 205 South Orange street, celebrated her 76th birthday anniversary the past week. During the day, she had many callers in the home, refreshments of birthday cake and tea were served.

Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, of Lester drive, is confined to her home with a relapse from influenza.

Dr. Isahel H. Dudley, 174 South Orange street, spent the week end near Whittier with her husband, Dr. Philip D. Dudley, who is very ill at Grand View sanitarium. He is reported as recovering as well as could be expected from a recent relapse.

E. A. Kern, 230 East Palmyra avenue, who underwent an operation for appendicitis early last week, is reported as making a rapid recovery at St. Joseph hospital.

Klotin club members are to meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. B. M. Huff, South Shafter street. Ruby Rebekah lodge will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in I. O. O. F. hall. There will be election of officers, and Brothers' night will be observed.

Miss Josephine Durgan, 325 North Cleveland street, took part in two musical programs given in Long Beach Sunday afternoon and evening. At 4:30 o'clock she sang over radio station KFOX and in the evening was soloist in a Long Beach church. Miss Durgan spent the week end at the beach, where she was a house guest of Mrs. Clyde Wardman.

Resinol Helped My Skin in 3 Days

"When I decided to try Resinol Soap and Ointment, my complexion was a sight from pimples and blackheads. I had a horrid, muddy looking skin and when I used powder it looked even worse. After three days use of the Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, I could see an improvement. Now all my friends tell me how well my skin looks."

OLIVE BABY CHICKS SENT TO HONOLULU

OLIVE, Dec. 5.—August Heine-mann, local breeder of thorough-bred Rhode Island red chickens, has sent a consignment of chicks to the agricultural school in Honolulu. Mr. Heine-mann has been supplying chicks for several island firms during the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schroeder, of Escondido, spent the week end with friends in Olive.

Mr. and Mrs. August Stohman and family, of San Gabriel, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Luchau Friday evening.

A birthday dinner was given for August Heine-mann by his mother, Fred Guenther sr., at her home Sunday. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. August Heine-mann and family, Mr. and Mrs. August George Heine-mann and daughters, Elsie and Georgene, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guenther.

PROGRAM HELD BY WOMEN'S SOCIETY

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—Concluding their activities for the first quarter of the church year, members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church met recently in the home of Mrs. R. C. Patton, North Glassell street.

Mrs. Carrie E. D. Riddle, president, was in charge of the session. Mrs. L. L. Williams led in prayer and gave a reading, "What Shall Be My Gift?" Members answered to roll call by naming missionaries in which the church has special interest.

Following a talk on "International News" by Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss, Mrs. W. H. Hall reviewed a chapter of the study book on the theme, "Ten Virgins." Mrs. Homer Baker discussed, "What is the Meaning of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society?"

During the business meeting, the

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES FOR OLIVE PIONEER

OLIVE, Dec. 5.—Funeral services for Fred Meier were held Friday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran church, after a brief service had been read at the home by his pastor, the Rev. E. H. Kredt. The pastor addressed the audience, which filled the church, in both the German and the English language. The choir, of which Walter Meier, son of the departed, is a member, sang an anthem.

Neighbors of the past 20 years served as pall bearers. They were Carl Gollin, H. T. Moennich, Fred Guenther, sr., August Lemke, Herman Meierhoff and Claus Otte.

Among the relatives present were his wife, Katharine Meier, and son, Walter Meier; his brother, Henry, of Paso Robles; his brother-in-law, Gerd Klindworth of Orange; his sister, Mrs. Klindworth, being unable to attend on account of illness; William and Christ Klindworth, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blanke, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. William Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paulus, of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paulus, of Garden Grove; Miss Katie Paulus, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nielson, Mr. and Mrs. Wacker, Mr. and Mrs. Al Weiss and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pohndorf, all of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paulus, and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Paulus, all of Olive.

Resignation of Miss Faye Bortz as counsel of the Standard Bearers was accepted.

Music for the afternoon was provided by Mrs. R. C. Patton, who sang, "The Sweet Story of Old," with Mrs. Clara Allen accompanying at the piano.

During the business meeting, the

Church Group In Party Wednesday

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—The December meeting of the Friendship chain of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon will be in the form of a party, when gifts will be presented to the church. Mrs. J. B. Wilbur is in charge of the afternoon's program as chairman of the month. A Christmas theme is to be featured and the country selected for the month is Germany. Each month has a different country around which the program is built, as a part of an international project for the year. Mrs. E. H. Smith is general chairman.

CLUB ENTERTAINED IN VILLA PARK HOME

VILLA PARK, Dec. 5.—Priscilla club members were delightfully entertained at the Serrano avenue home of Mrs. H. H. Gardner.

After a short business session in charge of the president, Mrs. Harold T. Brewer, the afternoon was spent in conversation and needlework. At sunset the hostess served celery and cranberry jolly salad, hot Parker House rolls, cheese sticks and tea.

The Christmas meeting will take the form of a pot luck dinner and will be held December 14 at the home of Mrs. H. D. Nichols.

This will be a "white elephant" party and donations of food and canned fruit will be brought for welfare work.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Gardner's hospitality included Mrs. Roy Adams, Mrs. George Carraker, of Orange; Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. W. J. Rasch, Mrs. H. E. Baker, Mrs. Louis DeLong, Mrs. Albert E. Hughes, Mrs. William J. Sutherland, Mrs. Ralph W. Crutzen, Mrs. Harry R. Trutt, Mrs. Harold T. Brewer, Miss Elizabeth Lee and Mrs. Art Strech.

Miss Margaret Holditch, Mrs. H. D. Nichols and Mrs. W. LeRoy Bell were absent on account of illness.

$48,000 PAID WALNUT GROUP BY ASSOCIATION

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—A total of $48,000 was paid to growers of the Richland Walnut association the latter part of the week, according to A. D. Smiley, manager and secretary of the association. The payment represents the second advance payment made to the 160 growers affiliated with the organization, this year. A final payment representing 35 percent of the whole will be paid next summer.

The Richland plant handles 753 tons of nuts the present year. The sum of $109,000 has been received at the plant this year. The costs of operation and the first payment to growers were taken from this sum, leaving the second payment the sum quoted.

The acreage of the association now totals 810 acres. The books of the association are to be opened to new members on January 1 and are to be closed on August 1, 1933.

Club Members On Visit To Library

VILLA PARK, Dec. 5.—Two members of the Shakespeare club with several guests went to Huntington library recently. The trip was made especially to see the Tudor drama exhibit.

Those who made the trip included Mrs. H. T. Thomson, Mrs. Edith Thomson, Mrs. Elma T. Lee, Miss Elizabeth Lee, Mrs. Mary Morningstar, Mrs. V. K. Bathgate, Mrs. Minnie Tereill, Mrs. D. R. Gardner, Mrs. Anne members, and H. T. Thomson, Mrs. B. R. Douglas, Mrs. Coykendall, Mrs. C. O. Thomson, Miss Frances Gribble and D. R. Gardner, guests.

The next meeting will be held December 15 at the home of Miss Elizabeth Lee.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

As Coppy painted houses he seemed just as happy as could be. I love to make things look real right," said he. This is real fun. "When things are dark it takes you blue. This town will be fine when we're through. Just think how all the houses soon will glisten 'neath the sun."

"You're right," replied a hot-tempered. "You're doing fine, and like I said, the Weeland lads will pay you well for laboring like this."

"At least they'll show you around this place and bring a good smile to your face. There's a lot of things here that you'll not want to miss."

Then Duncy said, "Oh, let me try my luck at painting. Really, I can give a little paint brush sound and do the job just right."

"All right," said Windy. "I feel red, while you appear to be inspired. Now, please don't spill a drop of paint, or things will be a bit."

As Duncy painted, Scouty, too, jumped up and said, "Well, I just do my share, so I'll take Coppy's brush. The task soon will be done."

And thus all of the Tynmies took turns and made the whole town look just wonderful. When they were through, they all agreed it was fun.

"Hey, listen," Duncy shouted, "I just heard a little baby cry. 'Twas very plain. The child is near, let's find it, if we can."

Then, just as quiet as a mouse,

he peeked into a little house. "The child's in here," he told the rest, as up to him they ran. Wee Duncy promptly took the child right in his hand. He broadly smiled and said, "I'll rock you, little one, till you are sound asleep."

The baby really was so small and cute that it surprised them all. They watched while Duncy rocked the child, and didn't even peep.

Late News From Orange County Communities

Return Of Prosperity Seen By Laguna Beach Banker

HEVENER BACK FROM TRIP TO MIDDLE WEST

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 5.—All sections of the country have a decided optimistic feeling regarding economic conditions, Frank D. Hevener, executive vice president of the Citizens bank of Laguna Beach, declared yesterday upon his return from a month's auto trip, which took him as far east as Akron, O.

"Everywhere we went, bankers and business and professional men told us that conditions are on the mend; that the corner has been turned, and expressed confidence in a renewal of better times," Hevener said. "It will take time to return to normal, is the general belief, but nowhere did I hear anyone say that business is not better."

"We hardly realize out here the crisis that has been lived through in the east—and I mean a crisis. In one of the largest banks in Chicago I was told that for two days the savings department of the great institution was crowded with persons withdrawing their savings. The failure of that bank would have meant the closing of a large number of correspondent banks. At the crucial moment, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which was one of the fine things that President Hoover gave to the people of America, loaned $40,000,000 to the Daves bank. The following day the crisis had passed and hundreds returned with their deposits. And the Daves bank was not the one affected."

"I never have seen published the dramatic story of how the bankers and business men of Akron, Ohio, saved that city from a financial crisis. We speak of bankers as operating banks, but we must remember that the boards of directors of these institutions are made up of the solid business men of a community, too. In Akron, the day was saved by complete co-operation of all business interests. When danger threatened the eight banks of the city began a series of mergers that ended with one bank instead of eight, but not a depositor in the city lost a dollar. Here we find big men sacrificing pride and personal ambition for the common good. What a story could be written by an author who had the inside facts of that battle to save a city."

"I learned that one of the fine things that has come out of the economic depression is that the people have not only learned but are practicing economy. There is less waste, more budgeting, and more deliberation before spending."

Agriculture was harder hit during the depression than any other industry, according to information obtained by Mr. Hevener.

"They are having a real winter back there," he continued, "and we were glad to get back to California. Other places have their heavy spots, but California is all beautiful."

An odd feature of the trip was that although they took different routes going and coming, there was a difference of just two miles from Laguna Beach to Akron and return.

Yule Party Of Auxiliary December 16

BUENA PARK, Dec. 5.—Miss Iris Thornton became a new member of the Girls' auxiliary at the regular meeting held in the Woman's clubhouse Saturday night. One of the evening's activities was the making of coin cards for the Woman's club.

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party given by the auxiliary, which will be held on the evening of December 16. Dancing will offer entertainment for members and their guests. Miss Margaret Cole and Miss Polly Upshaw will act as hostesses for the evening. There will be no business session. It was announced during the evening that the cook books, compiled from favorite recipes of members of the Woman's club are now ready for distribution. The Misses Carol Battelle, Molly Wolford, and Bertha Page were presented with copies of the cook book in appreciation of their assistance in typing the material. Miss Marie Brenner and Miss Carol Battelle were hostesses of the evening and at a late hour served fruit jello with whipped cream and star shaped cookies topped with yellow frosting.

BISHOP LOCKE GIVES ADDRESS IN COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Dec. 5.—Bishop Charles E. Locke, formerly bishop in the Philippine Islands, spoke at the Community church Sunday morning on the topic "Kindness," from Micah 6:8.

"Christ's philosophy of life will solve all our burdens and kindness is implicit in any right objective in life or any philosophy of life," Bishop Locke said. "The good life is an adventure in human kindness which is also the common denominator of Christianity. Creeds divide but Christ unites. Selfishness is not the right philosophy of life. You cannot live to yourself; truly we ought to bear the infirmities of the weak. Those that have, must need give to those that have not, for we are all fellow travelers, and to love is natural. Hate is unnatural and acts as a boomerang, giving more injury to the one who hates than the one hated."

"Life is doing the will of the Father, and he that doeth righteousness is righteous. True Christianity is kindness and co-operation is the good life, for he who does not see his fellow man face to face will never see God face to face."

The Rev. G. W. Brown introduced the speaker who has been a friend for the past 20 years. A special anthem was sung by the choir, directed by O. G. Bernheimer, "Holy Is the Lord." Mrs. G. W. Brown, accompanied by Mrs. P. M. Thompson at the organ, sang "O Jesus Thou Art Standing."

During the evening services the Rev. W. I. Lowe gave a lecture sermon on "The Grand Canyon of the Colorado."

BEACH GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS GIVE PROGRAM

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 5.—Dancing, singing, instrumental music, both violin and piano, the performance of magic, and a short skit were all included in the monthly program of the local grammar school, given in the school auditorium by the sixth grade class, directed by their teacher, David Cherry.

The program opened by the school giving the flag salute and singing in unison, "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Two violin solos were given by Billy Taylor, accompanied at the piano by Ruth Hayden. Dickey Huddleston and Junior Hadley sang "The Red River Valley." Hadley yodeling parts of the song, Gwendolyn Sweetman gave some acrobatic dances and Nardye Orcutt did some magic tricks and a piano duet was played by Kathleen Connelly and Marilyn Wallace.

The concluding number of the program, a play, "The Operation," was given by Dickey Huddleston and Jack McPhee as the doctors; Adolph Boehm, the patient; and Patty Wilkin, Kathleen Connelly, and Edna Racker as nurses.

Prof. H. O. Ensign, the school principal, gave a short address, and Coleen Burlingame made the announcements. A Christmas opera will be given December 15 in which the whole school will participate, directed by the eighth grade teacher, Miss Wilhelmina Breuer. The next monthly program to be given some time in January, will be put on by the fifth grade pupils, directed by their teacher, Miss Lillian R. Hemenway.

The schools will close on December 16 for the Christmas vacation season, opening again on January 3.

Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. McKay will be hostesses at the next meeting of the club December 15.

WORK ON QUILT

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 5.—Members of the King's Daughters class of the Baptist church held an all day meeting recently and spent the time quilting. Luncheon was served at the noon hour by 18 women. A short business session was held in the afternoon.

CHURCH MEMBERS ASK SWING AND SHORTRIDGE TO BATTLE AGAINST BOOZE LEGISLATION

PLACENTIA, Dec. 5.—Membership of five churches sent a telegram to representatives at Washington last night, urging them to use their vote and every power they possess to oppose any proposed or attempted beer or other liquor legislation at this session of congress.

The request followed a mass meeting called for that purpose, and was wired to Washington by Dr. E. H. Brunmeier, in behalf of the churches and the Women's Christian Temperance union, sponsors of the session.

The text of the message sent to Samuel L. Shortridge, United States senator, and Phil D. Swing, United States representative, Washington, D. C., follows: "We, the people of Placentia and Yorba Linda churches, 750 strong, in public meeting assembled, especially called for the purpose, do hereby solemnly protest any attempt by the present Congress in session to modify the Volstead act or to repeal the 18th amendment, and we request you to use your vote and every power you possess to oppose any proposed or attempted beer or other liquor legislation at this time."

A similar telegram was sent from Anaheim churches carrying a request from more than 2000 persons represented by the churches through their ministerial association. The plan of the W. C. T. U. includes forwarding signed petitions later in an effort to stem the tide of beer.

Dr. William A. Brown talked at the mass meeting yesterday, declaring in certain tones that it was not prohibition that lost the fight at the last election, that it was Americanism that lost. Connected with the eighth grade teacher, knowledge of responsibility to God, and education, knowledge of responsibility to man are two great basic elements in social relations. He said they are bound up in the issues under discussion, the placing of wines and beers back under government control, instead of outlawing them, and called attention to those very representatives of government who are backing return of beers and wines were not as enthusiastic about seeing that Chicago and New York obeyed the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Leroy Grimm presided at the session. She is president of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hies, in charge of the national work of medical temperance for W. C. T. U., was introduced and after a few remarks, introduced the speaker.

Children of the Loyal Temperance Legion presented a short program preceding the session of talks.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS IN POST ADDRESS

BUENA PARK, Dec. 5.—"The real heroism of the World war was that demonstrated by the Gold Star mothers, and their welfare looms large in the program of the American Legion," said Ray Smith, sous grand chemist of the 40 and 8 making the principal address before the members of the Buena Park post of the American Legion and their veteran guests Friday evening. In addition to his tribute to the mothers, who he said did the biggest job of the war, "Because they prayed us out of it," the speaker outlined the history of the American Legion of which he was one of the organizers.

Stressing child-welfare, Smith called attention especially to the fund established by the American Legion for the education of the orphaned children of veterans. This, he pointed out, insures the chances of the orphaned children growing into useful citizens, rather than later becoming charges on the community. Speaking of Boy Scout work the speaker declared that more Scout troops in the United States are sponsored by the American Legion than by any two other organizations and that 74 per cent of Scout troops are led by veterans.

Speaking of the drive being made by the National Economy league to reduce or discontinue many of the benefits which needy or disabled veterans now receive, Smith warned his hearers to equip themselves with the facts with which to combat the propaganda issued by the league. Honest and straight-forward explanations of the veteran's side of the question by the veterans themselves, he said, is the best and only way of getting the veterans' side over to the American people.

J. R. Thompson, service officer of the Buena Park post for the last four terms, told of the work of his office, illustrating his talk with the history of many of the cases helped. He paid tribute to the manner in which Harry Edwards, of Santa Ana, county veteran's welfare officer, had assisted him.

Harold Bell related the different activities peculiar to the local post especially the baseball team which the post is to sponsor. H. B. Phillips of the United Spanish War veterans spoke a few words on harmony between veterans of all wars. The concluding speaker called on was C. J. Riney, past commander and organizer of Hawley post No. 231 of Michigan, a visitor in Buena Park from Detroit.

CLUB LEADER IN TALK ON EUROPE

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 5.—Mrs. E. E. Smith, of Anaheim, county president of Federated Women's clubs, gave an account of her recent trip abroad with the Sherwood Eddy seminar at the regular meeting of the Garden Grove Woman's civic club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Edwards entertained with a piano solo, "Valse Styrienne."

Reports of the southern district convention held at Palm Springs were given by Mrs. J. G. McCracken and Mrs. P. S. Virgin.

Announcement was made that the monthly card party and the Book-lovers' section meeting for December would be postponed until January.

Mrs. Roy Johnson and Mrs. E. W. Edwards were hostesses for the afternoon and served dainty refreshments.

RALLY AGAINST BEER STAGED IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 5.—A message was composed to be sent to Congressman Phil D. Swing at an anti-beer rally held by members of the Garden Grove W. C. T. U., and representatives of the community in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

The message sent is as follows: "The Christian people of Garden Grove affirm their confidence in your standard on the dry question. Know that we are back of you at the opening of this all-important session of congress. Orange county voted dry in the last election. Help us by keeping the Volstead law as it is."

The wire was read at all church gatherings Sunday evening. Mrs. W. B. Harper presided at the meeting. The Rev. Grover Talston, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke of the work to be done on this question.

A group of children gave songs and readings.

HOLD COMMUNITY BENEFIT DEC. 15

FULLERTON, Dec. 5.—Although the complete program has not been arranged, December 15 has been set aside by the Fullerton Fox theater as the night when the building will be used by 25 organizations of Fullerton for a benefit b-links. Funds thus raised will be used for the unemployed of the community over the Christmas holidays.

PARIS LOVE by NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS.

Since the death of her husband ten years previously, Kate Sayers had made $60,000.00 by continuing the manufacture in France of the now famous American motor car. She was a woman of great power and influence, and she knew only as a gigolo and a driver of racing cars, and who was in constant attendance on her, was the chief of a band of jewel thieves. Mrs. Sayers' daughter Alacia had recently fallen in love at first sight with a handsome young Frenchman whom she learned later was Armand de la Roche, Prince d'Orsant, a French nobleman. He was a salesman at Piron's jewelry shop, learning the business. Sayers induced Mrs. Sayers to have her fabulous rubies reset and while they were at Piron's one of his associates substituted imitations just before Santini left for Paris in the Europa race he was to drive in the Grand Prix at Monte Carlo. Armand was arrested because he had handled the rubies, but M. Piron gave bond. A jealous girl told Alacia that Santini was going to throw the Monte Carlo race and several of his associates were to be his rivals. Armand agreed to drive Alacia's exact replica of Santini's racer in the Grand Prix and in this way they left Paris in pursuit. The chase until they were just outside of Monte Carlo; then he disappeared mysteriously after turning into a little blind street. Just after Armand left Paris, Col. Bradley, an American, who was a friend of Armand, was injured in an auto smash.

Although it was a full forty-eight hours before the great race would be run, Monte Carlo was in a feverish state of preparation. From the windows of her suite at the Hotel de Paris Alacia could see, far down the sweep of the Condamine which encircled the harbor, an army of workers busy with the completion of grandstands on which bright bunting was being draped and from which hundreds of little pennants already fluttered. Great banks of sandbags padded the dangerous turns and lined the curbs, giving the street something of a warlike appearance, as though a complete revolution was preparing. The novel feature of the Grand Prix de Monaco lay in the fact that it was run through the main thoroughfare of what was ordinarily a traffic-crowded city, and for this reason stout picket fences strung on wires were being erected as temporary barriers at all the cross streets. The track on which the cars would run a hundred tours lay through the very heart of the hilly town, now mounting a steep grade over slippery asphalt, now taking a hairpin turn down a sharp declivity, ducking under a railroad trestle and out along the flat boulevard on the edge of the sea, only to double back again through narrow streets full of treacherous curves. Probably there is no other automobile race in the world so dramatic in its setting, so varied in its risks, nor which makes as large a demand upon a driver's nerve and skill as does the Monte Carlo Grand Prix. It is a man's race, driven by skilled professionals, the prize is a large one and the distinction of winning is eagerly coveted by every racing driver in Europe.

Alacia Sayers had never seen one of these particular contests before, but she had already secured a place in the judges' tribunal and was looking forward to the event with almost unbearable excitement. The floods of sunlight, the exotic houses climbing from the blue sea, their garden walls cascading roses and geraniums, provided an incredible setting and as she looked out over it, watching the busy army of ant-like workers far below, it occurred to her that the only thing which made the excitement endurable was one's slight lack of conviction about the entire picture. It was too dramatic to be quite true. But presently the prosaic ringing of a telephone brought her back to reality and a few minutes later, Alacia, trim and businesslike in a newly acquired white tailored costume, was receiving press representatives from the Eclairage de Nice and the Continental Daily Mail, an audience which had been unavoidable from the moment of her registering in the hotel. Her connection with the Europa was well known, and almost before she knew it she was functioning in her old capacity of publicity agent. Then, just as the interview ended with Alacia's declaration that she had nothing to do with the Prince d'Orsant's entry, the door of the salon flew open to admit the Grand Duke Vladimir Perwoski, completely surrounded by bell boys with hand baggage.

"Valdy!" exclaimed Alacia springing to her feet. "How did you get here?"

"On a rapide from Paris last night!" he explained reasonably. "But by some mistake my ticket was only as far as Nice and I have had the devil's own time getting over here with all your bags. I took two taxis," he added mournfully, "and I like to take a look in at the Champs."

Excusing herself to the gentlemen of the press, Alacia herded the Russian into the room and demanded an explanation. Why had he no money? Hadn't he been given expenses when he left the office?

"Well may you ask, Alacia!" the Russian assented. "That Piron hustled me onto the train so fast I did not have a chance to go to the office! For the love of Allah give these serfs some tips and let them go!"

Alacia dismissed the grinning chatters. What news had he from her mother? None in particular it seemed, except that Mrs. Sayers was greatly occupied with M. le Colonel Bradley, whom she was caring for after a slight accident. Mrs. Sayers had not even called up the office. Perhaps because she was aware that he, Valdy, was due to start for Monte Carlo, as previously arranged, though now as Alacia had come it hardly seemed necessary for him to have left Paris.

"And," he complained, "I hear that you have entered the other Europa."

FREE SPEECH AND A BIT OF LOGIC

We should like to quote several lines of editorial comment from the Los Angeles Times of last Saturday morning. It said:

The movement on the part of an organization calling itself the Woman Patriot Corporation to bar Dr. Albert Einstein from entry to this country on the ground of his political opinions, seems particularly silly. Dr. Einstein is, as everybody knows, a theoretical Socialist; but everybody knows also that he is not coming to America to air his political opinions, to indulge in Socialist propaganda, or to take part in subversive activities.

Dr. Einstein is one of the foremost world scientists. Even if he had nothing to contribute to American knowledge it would be unfair to bar him from study at the foremost American scientific institutions, among which is California Institute of Technology. But since these scientific institutions will probably benefit at least as much from his knowledge as he will from theirs, it would be cutting off our scientific nose to spite our political face to prevent him from pursuing these opportunities. His trips here are scientific and not political, and so long as they remain so he should be made welcome. There is every reason to believe that Dr. Einstein appreciates fully the obligations of a guest.

What the public needs to understand about Dr. Einstein and other specialists is that while in their own fields they may be supreme, their opinions on matters not connected with their specialties are not necessarily valuable. Dr. Einstein is a mathematical wizard, but that does not make him an authority on politics or diet or hygiene or jurisprudence or contract bridge. If that idea can get firmly fixed in the public mind, his visit could do no harm even if he started talking Socialism at the dock. The Woman Patriot Corporation can more beneficially employ its time educating the public in this direction, it would seem, than in seeking to argue that because of Dr. Einstein's eminence, he is, therefore, powerful and dangerous.

We heartily agree with this editorial, but we wonder why it is that The Times will take this position in regard to Dr. Einstein, in his relation to economic institutions, and is so frightened over the non-de-script, uneducated, and many times illiterate man who attempts to speak out his mind in the city and county of Los Angeles, and the influences that are in and around The Times, join together to hit this man over the head, break up his meeting, and land him in jail.

The people whom the authorities treat in this manner have no influence or weight, and can accomplish nothing, except in such cases as they have possession of some dynamic truth which in and of itself has explosive power. But in view of the fact that these weak and lowly people are uttering the same things that Einstein is, without his influence and power, surely if he is not detrimental and harmful, they cannot be.

Professor Einstein furnishes brains and leadership. His words and counsel affect thousands, where the other will affect two or three, or no one. And yet the influences are brought to bear to destroy the one, and protect the other. The one comes into the country with the prestige and influence of a great institution, and with his personal reputation, which will add to the glory of that institution. He can have and express the same ideas in words for which the other man, who, without that prestige or influence, must have his body broken, and himself placed in jail. It won't do.

The right of free speech is an Anglo-Saxon institution. Its protection should challenge our greatest loyalty. This discrimination clearly demonstrates there is no defense for the attitude that is taken in Los Angeles county on free speech which will receive the approval of the thinking people anywhere.

We are profound believers in the power of truth to vindicate itself. We are not afraid of the utterances of error, except if through repression they are forced through subterranean channels, and are not permitted to be out in the open, where truth can meet them face to face.

"POP" WARNER RESIGNS

"Pop" Warner answered his carping critics characteristically today. Quietly, unostentatiously, he resigned as Stanford's football coach.

There are few unbiased athletic jurors who blame him.

One of the greatest minds in the game—the greatest, Knute Rockne said—Warner did not care to assume further the responsibility for the mere winning or losing of games.

"All right," he said between the lines. "If the alumni don't like the way I'm doing it let them get somebody they think can do the job better. I've been in this business too long to fight with 'em."

His resignation didn't say that; but that was the situation. That is the situation at every major university where football is stressed. And everybody knows it. If a coach wins consistently he's a marvel, a master mind. If his record is checkered the "wolves" howl. "Throw him out," they cry. "He doesn't know anything. He has lost his stuff."

Stanford alumni, some of them at least, were after "Pop" because he couldn't beat Southern California, and they demanded somebody in charge who could do that, regardless of material. They forgot Warner's fine record against other conference teams; forgot that he had contributed more to football than any other coach; forgot he introduced single and double wingback attacks, the guards-out interference, revolutionized defensive football by having linemen kneel and contributed much to the development of the forward pass.

To them, Warner was just another bum—who couldn't win all the time. Warner's resignation, which was virtually presented under fire, emphasizes the real evil of modern football—the win-at-any-cost idea. Universities have so concentrated on the development of winning teams they are prone to forget that, after all, football is for the student's physical stimulus. Football has become a game of coach vs. coach, rather than student vs. student, and many alumni are little better than lurking villains whirling the blacksnake over all.

Maybe it is time we give football back to the boys.

PLAN TO CO-OPERATE IN UNEMPLOYED BENEFIT CONCERT

The musicians of Santa Ana are uniting to spread Christmas cheer and benefit the unemployed. They are preparing for a concert for December 13. The Santa Ana Municipal band, the Cantando Club, the Cadman Choral Club, the Girls' Glee Club of the high school, a Capella Choir of the junior college and the newly organized Musical Art Club octette and other organizations are cooperating in an effort to make Christmas a happy rather than a bitter and farcical occasion for the unemployed of the city and their families. One other body must join in cooperating in order to make it a success and bring to fruition the efforts of those already enrolled for the concert. The cooperation and response of the public is necessary.

There is little need to urge response to this undertaking of the local musicians. Everyone is familiar with the merit of the concert which will be given because of performances on lesser scale in the past. In these days people are budgeting the income with the utmost care, weighing each expenditure carefully because, with the distressing needs facing us every day one cannot do otherwise and be at peace with oneself. There is no group more worthy, more deserving of our support, than the Unemployed organization. Wherever there is any income at all there should be set aside the small sum needed to purchase at least one ticket, more if possible, for this concert for wherever there is an income there should be this measure of devotion to those in distress.

Even though it may not be possible to attend the concert, a ticket purchased signifies to Mr. Cianfoni and the others who are promoting the concert, that their efforts are appreciated and the needs of the unemployed close to all hearts.

THE WAYS OF PROGRESS

Apropos of the action of the American Federation of Labor at their convention in favoring unemployment insurance, it is interesting to note the ways of progress. When the working day was sixteen hours, there were those who objected to making it twelve. When it was twelve, there were those who objected to a ten-hour day. And the fight for the eight-hour day is too recently won to need recital. It has been so with health laws, laws requiring safety appliances in dangerous industries, laws limiting child labor, mothers' pensions, employers' liability laws, etc. But they all came in the course of time, after much agitation and education.

The next few years will witness a new advance along these lines. Unemployment insurance of some kind is bound to come. New methods of taxation which will make for a wider distribution of the products of industry will come. Regulation of monopolies will be extended. All these are inevitable in an expanding society. No doubt, the recent election has given a sharp push in that direction. To those who fear that it may go too far, it only needs to be said that progress always goes forward on palsied feet. There is no great danger of going too fast. Progress, if anything, has gone altogether too slowly.

These are the ways of progress. A great inert mass has always to be pushed aside. That is the story of the years. No surrender of privilege has ever been willingly made. It is the very nature of those who have to desire to hold. It is natural that it should be so. But it is just as natural that they who have not should wish to hold.

Mining Conference

Oakland Tribune

Outside of the industry most concerned, Californians are interested in the mining conference which is being held in Sacramento today. The state still recognizes the part played by mining and knows that the industry includes not only the traditional gold mining, but everything related to mineralogy and that its total output and value runs into the many millions.

Yet it is the gold miner who is to receive the major attention at this meeting which will discuss possible ways and means of stimulating activity in the field. There is a realization of the part played in improving conditions by the creation of new wealth and there is confidence that great quantities of gold still remain in the quartz of the Mother Lode.

The miner's problems have been many. One of the leading subjects before the men who are meeting today is that of mining compensation insurance rates. Promotional matters are discussed and the representatives of the famous sections in our gold story, with the experts and members of legislative committees, will be able to show a public many ways in which aid may be rendered. To some sections this is the most promising conference of the year; to all it has possibilities of real importance.

Davis Farm Blue Ribbons

San Francisco Chronicle

The University of California does raise something besides football players. The Chicago International Live Stock Show, biggest exhibition of the kind anywhere, confers honorary degrees on the University of California for topnotch steers and sheep. "These also are my jewels," the Berkeley Cornelia may say, pointing to the flocks and herds on her Davis farm.

Students at the Davis Farm School learn about the live stock business by raising these stock show champions. When they go home to dad's farm the students know the kind of animals that ought to be raised and how to raise them.

It's a Good Trick If He Does It!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

DEFEAT

Outside, a ragged winter sky
Has steeped the world in gloom,
While in the house a single fly
Is buzzing 'round the room.
A fly that darts from left to right,
And flutters here and there,
And overlooks no chance to light
Upon my face or hair.

He does not seem to understand,
The while he hovers near,
That one sharp blow from either hand
Would finish his career.
All recklessly he goes his ways
And never dreams that he
Is like a little child who plays
With cans of T. N. T.

He now is dashing 'round my head,
On which he rests a space;
I lift my hand, but he has fled
To some new hiding place.
But when I fall to work once more
I know that he'll come back,
Resuming his guerrilla war
With some fierce, fresh attack.

The hours come, the hours go;
I fall to work again,
The while the thought of my base foe
Is swimming through my ken.
Till, steeped in dark and Stygian gloom,
I lay my labors by
And slink abjectly from the room,
Licked—and by a fly!

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

But, Alas! the lame ducks aren't the only quacks there. "The big job in old age," says a doctor, "is to overcome the effect of youth." A kind of antidote.
After all, the annoying thing about swell-head is the smallness of the success that caused it.
Marriage may fail, but it shows that two people at least tried to overcome their selfishness.
If a mere citizen says whatever will make the best impression, he's a cock-eyed liar; if a great man does it, he's a statesman.

ANOTHER THING THAT MAKES YOU CONSCIOUS OF AGE IS THE DESIRE TO STEP OUT FOR A SMOKE JUST AS THE HERO IS ABOUT TO TAKE HER IN HIS ARMS.

The next big job of the Democrats is to keep the people from putting too much accent on the first syllable.
A man isn't down so long as his wife and bairns murmur: "Atta boy!"
As we understand it, a sales tax is an unfair and discriminating levy that mustn't be imposed just before an election.

AMERICANISM: Feeling indifferent to crime—and—graft because it doesn't reach us; wondering why it is so hard to live.

When you comment on values that hit bottom, don't overlook the value of the campaign slogan: "It might have been worse."

The disadvantage of a liberal mind is that you have to change it every time a new scientist explains things.
How strange to make a foolish ideal of your friend and then blame him because he isn't like it.

A MAN MAY BE TELLING THE TRUTH NOW WHEN HE SAYS HE RUNS THINGS AT HIS HOUSE. HE MEANS THE WASHING MACHINE AND THE VACUUM CLEANER.

If hooch sellers are liberated because the public won't care when they resume business, why are killers paroled?
So your friends have changed? Who wouldn't with so much woe poured in his ears?

What a world! Towel losses are figured in hotel rates, so you have to be a thief to get what you pay for.
"A sales tax is absorbed by the manufacturer." Thank Goodness, people can still joke about things.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

SECOND THOUGHTS ON RECOVERY

The American mind is prone to over-simplify its problems. This tendency gains momentum in times of grave confusion and growing dislocation.

During the campaign and since, this passion to put the most complicated issues in the form of utterly simple alternatives has expressed itself in our tendency unduly to confine our thinking about retardation and recovery to the issue of economy versus extravagance in governmental expenditures.

Obviously the credit of the nation must be maintained and no sensible statesman will countenance the irresponsible spendthrift even when the economic skies are cloudless.

But I want today modestly to challenge the now popular cry that the road to recovery lies mainly through raising taxes and reducing public expenditures not only up to but even beyond the point of a balanced budget.

The road to recovery lies through the revival of business enterprise in domestic and foreign trade, and this road alone can lead us to the goal of recovery.

Any and every governmental program must be judged in the light of its help or hindrance to such business revival.

Subject to the limitation only that the national credit must be maintained and responsible intelligence be used in governmental expenditures, I submit the following principles as sound:

Whereas it is our habit to increase governmental expenditures and reduce taxes in a time of prosperity and to decrease governmental expenditures and raise taxes in a time of depression, the reverse is the more intelligent policy.

When private enterprise is victimized by a nation-wide retardation of business, two things are obviously needed. They are: (1) Taxes should be reduced rather than raised to a point that will make it more difficult for business and industry to resume normal operation.

(2) Sound governmental expenditures should be increased as a means of administering a transition stimulus to employment while business is getting its fresh wind. These seemingly contradictory policies mean that we have no right to take a more extreme attitude towards budget balancing in a time of depression than in a time of war, save as budget balancing may be related to the maintenance of the national credit, and that special financing measures must be devised that will spread the load of depression out over the periods of prosperity. Tomorrow I shall discuss this in greater detail.

REVIEW LESSONS

Every so often it is necessary for a pupil to go over the points he has learned. He repeats his rules, brushes up his tables, does the problems once more. This is an essential step on his learning.

It makes for thoroughness, for one thing. Our minds often trick us. We think we know a fact very well. It has a pleasant familiar feeling as we remember it in passing. "O, I know that," says the child, and goes on. The wise teacher doesn't stop with that. She says, "Good. Tell me all about it. What does it mean? How can you use it? Where, in your scheme of learning, does it fit?"

Often than not the pupil is dismayed to find that this thing he knew so well slips from his grasp when he tried to hold it had not been used often enough, had not been finally said, "I know that just as well as my own name and when he tries to lay hold of it. He hesitates, stammers and fidgets. I couldn't say it."

He didn't know it as well as he knew his own name. His name has been used so often that it has become a part of himself. The fact that slipped into the haze between knitted into the fabric of his thought. To make an idea part of one's thinking one must work it, knead it into his mind by repetition and use.

Repetition alone will not help a child to knowledge. It is not enough to repeat words, accurate though they may be. That is only one form of an idea, its thinnest, most elusive and deceptive form. To grasp its values and make them useful to our thinking we have to know the idea in many forms—in action, in association with other things.

A child learns that a river is a stream of water running down hill toward the sea. Suppose he never saw a river? Suppose he never traveled one, never swam in one, never saw the boats carrying their loads up and down its course, never saw the farm turn green and bear their harvests because of its beneficent watering, never noted the difference its drainage meant to the nearby uplands—how much does he know about a river? We begin with the word but the word must be clothed and made manifest before a child knows much about it. The more he knows about one thing the easier it is for him to call it when he needs it. The teachers call this "forming association bonds." Parents call it "getting the hang of things." The name won't matter if the work is accomplished.

When you are trying to help a child review a subject instead of hammering on the set word, try to get a new view of it by helping the child to find new associations for it. A river? What good is it? What work does it do? How does that work help you and me? George Washington? Tell us a story about him. What sort of boy was he? Would you like to go camping with him? Suppose he was the first President, what difference did it make to these United States?

A review ought to be the old idea with some additional sidelights. If the pupil is not interested in the idea the review won't help him at all and the way to interest him is to call up other ideas in support of the original fact. Don't forget the view part of this stage of learning. To get a better view you climb a little higher.
